German Chancellor on Visit to Help Boost Morale of Citizens

BERLIN (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer toured the barricades between East and West Berlin on a morale-boosting visit today and was met with jeers from the Communist side.

The jeering at one point was led by Gerhardt Eisler, top East German propagandist who jumped bail in the United States and fled to East Germany.

"There's only one way out, Konny," Eisler shouted at Adenauer across the barbed wire at Potsdamer Platz, once a major crossing point. "You'll have to deal with us."

Ignored Reds

The 85-year-old chancellor, impassive as an Indian chief, ignored Eisler and all the other communist hecklers.

At other points, Communists from East Berlin jeered him from the wall they have built to divide the two parts of the city.

Communist loudspeaker trucks turned up at the Brandenburg gate, once the chief crossing point and blared at Adenauer:

"We acted but you did nothing." The Communists made so much noise that nothing the chancellor said could be heard except by those closest to him. He did not attempt to make any speech.

Adenauer flew this morning to Berlin, 110 miles deep inside communist East Germany, on a morale-boosting visit.

First Visit
Adenauer, chief of the Christian Democratic Party, was met at Tempelhof Airport by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, his Socialist opponent in West German elections next month.

His visit was his first since the communists closed the border between East and West Berlin Aug. 13.

Kennedy's Tax Proposals Dead For This Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's stop-gap tax reform program is dead for this session of Congress, say informed House sources. The delay may push back for another year his planned general overhauling of the tax structure.

The House Ways and Means Committee Monday canceled a meeting at which it was to have heard Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon sum up the administration's latest position on the measure. But Dillon asked that the meeting be postponed.

Committee sources said Dillon will be heard later but there is no chance that Congress will be able to enact the complicated legislation before adjournment which is expected to come next month.

Kennedy proposed a $1.7-billion tax credit for businesses investing in modern plants and equipment.

Adlai Lashes At Soviets as Freedoms' Foe

Russia Cynical in Trying to Picture
West as Colonialists

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States today accused the Soviet Union of cynical suppression of freedoms while trying to picture the Western powers as supporters of colonialism.

The U. S. charge was made by Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson at a special session of the U.N. General Assembly. He was replying to an attack by Soviet Delegate Platon D. Morozov yesterday on foreign-held military bases, especially those of the United States.

Stevenson called Morozov's attack "shameless" and said it should be ignored. He compared the record of the Soviet Union with that of France, which he said had freed numerous territories since World War II while the Russians were obliterating countries which resisted the presence of Soviet troops.

The U.S. delegate told the 90-nation assembly Soviet forces still were in Poland, Hungary, East Germany and other countries 16 years after the end of the war.

Urges Negotiations
"The Soviet record of cynical suppression of freedoms is in sharp contrast to the record of France," Stevenson said.

The cold war flare-up came during a debate on the French-Tunisian dispute. Stevenson declared that the United States believes that the only way to a solution is through negotiations. He said it would not be useful to adopt a resolution which might prolong the stalemate.

Stevenson did not say specifically how he would vote on a pending 32-nation resolution calling for French-Tunisian talks on steps to get French troops out of Tunisia. Informed quarters reported, however, that the United States would abstain.

Morozov immediately replied by accusing Stevenson of trying to distract world attention from the main issues. He said the Soviet delegation "repudiates all those attempts to besmirch the policy of the Soviet government."

'Windmill' Sends Out More Scientific Data Than Any Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—As the newest U.S. satellite, Explorer XII, wheels through its orbit in space, it is transmitting scientific data at a greater rate than any other space craft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration in announcing the achievement said Monday there are two reasons for the "windmill" satellite's success.

One is the complexity and versatility of its instruments designed to observe magnetic fields and their relationship to radiation particles that zip through space and may be hazards to rocket travelers.

The other is tremendous length of its orbit, which takes the Explorer about 26½ hours to travel from its low point of 180 miles above earth to its most distant point of 47,800 miles.

6-Cent Pay Hike Yearly Included

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. today offered the United Auto Workers new three-year contracts providing six-cent-an-hour wage increases in each year in addition to cost-of-living allowances.

The Big Three, presenting a united front also offered expanded fringe benefits and what they termed a new income guarantee to supplement pay in short work weeks for the nation's 490,000 auto workers.

Ready to Negotiate
Ford and Chrysler said their almost identical offers would expire automatically if not accepted fully at both the national and local union levels by Aug. 31, the date of expiration of current three-year contracts. GM, however, indicated it would be willing to negotiate changes in the basic pattern of the agreement.

The companies proposed hourly pay increases of 6 cents an hour each year or 2½ per cent of the employee's hourly base pay, whichever is greater.

They also proposed extra benefits for employees who, due to layoffs, work less than 36 hours in any week. The benefits would be one-half of the employee's straight time per hour for the difference between the hours he works in a week and a minimum 36 hours.

Jobless Benefits
The Big Three also offered to increase maximum weekly Supplemental unemployment Benefits (SUB) from $30 to $35, and to make it easier for employees to apply for and receive benefits. SUB is an auto industry program under which the companies pay their workers an additional allowance to supplement what they receive in government unemployment compensation.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler proposed "stabilizing" revisions with their offers to re-

House Approves Death Penalty for Plane Hijackers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill carrying a death penalty for aircraft hijacking.

The measure, approved Monday by a 373-5 vote, is similar to one passed by the Senate. It would authorize the death penalty on recommendation of a jury when force, violence or threat of force or violence had been used to seize control of a plane.

Rep. William Fitz Ryan, D-N.Y., tried without success to have the death provision cut out. He argued that it would have "an adverse effect on the safety of passengers" by tending to make hijackers more reckless.

The legislation, triggered by a series of airliner hijackings, also sets out penalties for other disturbances aboard planes. An assault on a crew member, for instance, could bring a 20-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine. Other sections prohibit carrying concealed weapons aboard an airliner and giving false reports of hijacking threats.

Air Travel Accord With Reds Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, "in view of the international situation," has broken off plans for signing a commercial air agreement which had been worked out with the Soviet Union.

The surprise move was announced by the State Department Monday night after a month of quiet talks on the long-proposed air route joining New York and Moscow.

May Sign Later

The State Department said "in the view of the international situation, for which the U.S. government is not responsible, this government has decided that this is not an appropriate time to sign a civil air transport agreement."

Lincoln White said that if the international situation changes "that would be a different kettle of fish."

Soviet reaction—so far—has been mild. The Soviet Union's civil air chief, Col. Gen. Yevgeni F. Loginov, voiced regrets at the last-minute U.S. turnaround which he said "cannot be regarded as a step towards improving" U.S.-Soviet relations.

Loginov said he planned to return to the Soviet Union today and it would be up to Washington whether an agreement will be signed later.

Trial Launched in Collapse of Tower

Air Force Colonel Declares
He Expects to be Exonerated

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — An Air Force colonel went before a court-martial today on charges of neglect of duty in the collapse of a Texas Tower that cost the lives of 28 Air Force men and civilians Jan. 15.

The formal charges were presented at the outset, and then the session was closed until at least 1 p.m. at the request of defense counsel, Thomas King, a civilian.

No reason was given publicly, but it was understood preliminary motions were to be entered. Col. William M. Banks, said on the eve of his trial that he was "confident of being exonerated."

"I have already pointed out that in the state of my knowledge at the time I acted properly, prudently and not in a manner derogatory to duty," he added.

Banks, who has a record of heroism in combat in World War II, is accused of ignoring portents of disaster to the Texas Tower off the New Jersey coast.

Nature of Charges
The court-martial, at Stewart Air Force Base, will consider charges that Banks failed to keep himself advised of the threats of the storm in which the tower collapsed, to keep in touch with the officer in charge of the tower, and to hold himself in readiness for any action necessary to rescue the men on it.

Airplanes Guide Search

One of Two Suspects in Killing of Officer Captured in Wooded Area

LAKE DELTON (AP)—A posse searching for two men who fled into the woods near this resort area after killing one police officer and wounding another apprehended one man about noon today.

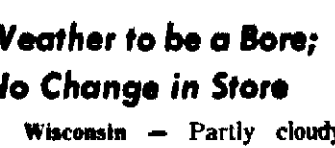

He was taken to Wisconsin Dells immediately and authorities refused to give any identification or details of the arrest.

However, it came shortly after about 100 armed men guided by three airplanes closed in on a wooded area four miles north of the Dells after a reported sighting.

A woman resort operator told officers coordinating the manhunt that she saw one of the fugitives in her driveway at mid-morning. He fled into the woods again.

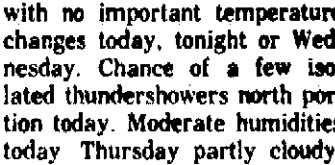

The development came shortly after the Federal Bureau of Investigation said it had been mistaken in its tentative identification of one fugitive.

Berlin Crisis Made Big Political Issue

Visit of Adenauer to City
Stirs Controversy Over
Elections in September

BY DAVID M. NICHOL
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

BERLIN — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's visit to Berlin today has been the subject of angry political exchanges.

Many Berliners are asking why he didn't come sooner.

The reply of the Chancellor's supporters is that he was minding the store in Bonn where he should have been in the opening hours of the new crisis which began with the Communist's forceful seizure and virtual annexation of East Berlin Aug. 13.

Why then, ask Berliners, was the Chancellor making election speeches in Regensburg and why in particular was he speaking about West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt, the Chancellor's Social Democratic opponent in the Federal elections Sept. 17.

Stopped Campaign

Brandt broke off an election tour to fly back to West Berlin within hours of the Communist coup. He has been occupied day and night since then with the city's acute new problems.

One of Brandt's moves was to write directly to President Kennedy and out of this came the weekend visit of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the dispatch of an American battle group.

It was a triumph for the Americans and for Willy Brandt personally.

Outrageous, say the Chancellor's followers, Bonn is supposed to represent West Berlin in foreign affairs.

Right, say followers of Brandt, but Berlin has a special status which makes it perfectly correct for Brandt to appeal directly to the Allies. And in any case there wasn't time to go through Bonn. Bonn was reacting too sluggishly.

Both Claim Credit

What if Brandt did write the letter which the Chancellor is reported here to have described as "arrogant," says the Chancellor's supporters. They claim that Adenauer's discreet diplomatic moves and not Brandt's letter produced the Johnson visit which did so much to raise morale in Berlin.

Social Democrats in return have quoted Johnson to the effect that he knew nothing about a trip to Berlin until Brandt's letter reached the White House.

Three and a half weeks before a Federal election this kind of political niggling probably is inevitable but it is not editing.

The newspaper Morgenpost appeals both to the Chancellor and to Brandt to end their private cold war about Berlin and "to take away from us the feeling of shame with which we have watched these efforts."

Plenty of Room

How much the Chancellor's tardy visit will go to restore the confidence and good relations between Berlin and West Germany remains to be seen, but there is plenty of room for improvement.

Obviously one of the West's main problems will be to keep its forces moving in the same direction in the coming weeks.

Not only are there differences within Germany itself but there is a feeling here, rightly or wrongly, that the Western Alliance is divided. British newspapers for example have given the impression that Britain is far less ready to face a showdown with the Soviets than are the Americans.

It was to put an end to this kind of talk that the British moved a company of infantry supported by four tanks to a threatened section of West Berlin's border with the surrounding Communist controlled region yesterday and undertook a full-scale alert this morning.

It was the first military response of its kind by any of the Western forces here since the new phase of the crisis began.

Congress Won't Okay Study of Metric Use

Iowa Congressman
Opposes Action to Report on System

WASHINGTON (AP)—To hear its supporters talk, you'd think anybody with a gram of sense would favor adopting the metric system of weights and measures in the United States.

But Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., a strong metric man, admitted today he has about given up until next year hope for congressional action on a first-step bill he has introduced. He got another setback Monday.

Miller's trouble is Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who won't touch with a three-meter pole any legislation which to his searching eye appears to call for unnecessary expenditures, or create unnecessary jobs.

Miller's proposal is for the National Bureau of Standards to conduct a program of investigation and research on the practicability of adopting the metric system for general use in this country. It would authorize $500,000 for the purpose.

Gross, who never hides his economy light under a liter measure, pounced on that $500,000 item. Miller got his bill enthusiastically endorsed by the House Committee on Science and Astronautics, and tried to have it passed Aug. 7 by the House under hurry-up procedures requiring unanimous consent.

Gross blocked that.

Miller then reasoned with Gross dwelling on the decimal advantages of the metric system and the fact that the vast majority of nations have made it their standard.

When Miller tried again Monday to get unanimous consent to pass the bill, it developed Gross hadn't budged a centimeter.

Won't Hold Cuban Ship as Family Ransom

President Says
Action Might Lead
To Retaliations

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — President Kennedy has refused to hold a Cuban merchant ship as ransom for the families of 10 defecting crewmen because it might provoke retaliation and be "harmful to innocent travelers in the future."

The President, in a telegram relayed by an adviser to Capt. Jorge Navarro of the freighter Bahia de Nipe, added that such a barter might not work and at any rate was illegal in the United States.

McGeorge Bundy, the President's special adviser on national security, told Navarro in the telegram that "the President feels a deep respect for the love of freedom which you and your companions have demonstrated" and "hopes that you and your crewmen will be reunited with your families in the near future."

Held Ship?

Navarro announced at a news conference Sunday that he had urged the President to hold the ship in this country until the families of the 10 crewmen seeking political asylum here could safely get out of Cuba. Navarro's family is in the United States.

The Bahia de Nipe, a 3,800-ton motor ship laden with a $600,000 sugar cargo originally destined for behind the Iron Curtain, anchored in nearby Lynnhaven Roads last Thursday after Navarro and his 10 companions succeeded in imprisoning 23 other crewmen below decks.

Controversy Starts

As the defecting crew members were removed from the ship pending final clearance by immigration officials, the vessel became the center of a legal controversy.

U.S. marshals sought to seize the ship to satisfy judgments and debts which now total $2,719,778, but were repeatedly repulsed by the Coast Guard.

U.S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman initiated a hearing Saturday in which he asked the Coast Guard to show cause why it should prevent the ship from being seized.

The federal government officially has taken the position that the Bahia de Nipe should be returned to Cuba.

the world have adopted the metric system and its advantages are so obvious, Gross asked the House, "What do we need with a half-million dollar survey? I suggest the committee just bring out a bill putting it into effect—say, in five years."

Once again he blocked Miller's measure.

Spellman Hits Charges by Sen. Morse on Education

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman says there was no truth in a charge by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that top-ranking Catholic clergy are opposed to improving public schools.

The cardinal, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, said Morse made the statement in a speech Aug. 14.

In a reply Monday, Cardinal Spellman said: "We do not, as he alleges, look upon them (public schools) as 'competitors,' but as partners in the great work of educating America's children. We recognize their essential place in American life."

"But we are also deeply concerned for the protection of our Catholic schools. We do not believe that the best interests of this nation can best be served by making public school education a monopoly."

The cardinal said public school education would eventually become a monopoly under the Kennedy administration proposal, backed by Morse, to aid only public schools with federal funds.

That proposal "is actually not intentionally discriminatory, unwittingly anti-Catholic, and indirectly subversive of all private education," he said.

Morse, in his speech in Philadelphia at the annual convention of the American Federation of Teachers, accused the Catholic hierarchy of seeking to block the "legislative aims of a majority of our people through pressure tactics."

Action Asked To Halt Increase In Steel Prices

Senator Gore Says
President Should Act on Matter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said today that President Kennedy and government agencies should use all their powers to prevent any steel price increase this fall.

Gore said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery he saw signs indicating that a $5 per ton increase would accompany the raise in steel wages scheduled for Oct. 1 "unless something is done to restrain such action."

Steel is so important to the economy that an increase in its price would likely lead to a new round of inflation, Gore said. "The public welfare demands its prevention."

Drastic Steps

Gore said drastic steps may be needed to prevent a price increase.

"It may well be that the large steel companies can and should be broken up into smaller units so that true competition, including price competition, may be restored," said Gore.

"Lastly, if all else fails," he said, "steel prices can be brought under utility type regulations, much as various government agencies now regulate prices in other fields characterized by monopoly control such as railroad, air, truck, and bus transportation, and pipe lines."

Not Wanted

"Few would want to do this, but it may be necessary. The public and government must not stand idly by and be victimized by either big business or big labor, or both."

Before any such measures are taken, Gore said, Kennedy should try "moral persuasion" and bring "to bear the vast weight of public opinion."

Steel company executives have begun to talk of a steel price rise around Oct. 1, Gore said, in the same way they prepared for the July 1958 increase.

The October wage increase is a part of the steel contract. It will average about 7.8 cents an hour.

Like Dust Cloud

German Scientist Finds Missing Universe Link

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An East German astronomer apparently has found an important missing link in the story of the universe.

He detected a great cloud of seeming dust just beyond the Milky Way, the galaxy or great family of billions of stars to which our sun belongs.

This dusty veil seems to be not just gas, but a smoke of heavier atoms also, ranging in size possibly from the particles in cigarette smoke to meteors. Out of this, new stars and planets could condense and come into being.

Near Earth

Astronomers have proposed that such dust clouds may exist in the vast distances between galaxies. This could be the first discovery of an individual cloud. It is relatively near the earth.

Dr. Cuno Hoffmeister of Sonneberg in East Germany described his findings Monday to the International Astronomical Union meeting at the University of California. Other delegates expressed keen interest.

By some theories, new stars and in 1959 when working at the Boyden great galaxies are constant being formed out of clouds of dust, gas and dust. Small dust clouds ried on analyses since then.

Dr. Cuno Hoffmeister of Sonneberg in East Germany described his findings Monday to the International Astronomical Union meeting at the University of California. Other delegates expressed keen interest.

By some theories, new stars and in 1959 when working at the Boyden great galaxies are constant being formed out of clouds of dust, gas and dust. Small dust clouds ried on analyses since then.

He detected a great cloud of seeming dust just beyond the Milky Way, the galaxy or great family of billions of stars to which our sun belongs.

This dusty veil seems to be not just gas, but a smoke of heavier atoms also, ranging in size possibly from the particles in cigarette smoke to meteors. Out of this, new stars and planets could condense and come into being.

Near Earth

Astronomers have proposed that such dust clouds may exist in the vast distances between galaxies. This could be the first discovery of an individual cloud. It is relatively near the earth.

Left-Wing Party Wins Control in Elections In British Guiana

People's Progressive Party Gets
19 Out of 35 Seats for Control

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Cheddi Jagan, 43, a Marxist admirer of Fidel Castro promoting a foreign policy of active neutralism, was returned to power for four more years today in Britain's only South American colony.

Returns from Monday's general election gave Jagan's Communist-leaning People's Progressive Party (PPP) 19 of 35 seats in the new legislature, and at least two of the five unreported constituencies were expected to be added to the East Indian dentist's majority.

The Negro-dominated People's National Congress led by Forbes Burnham won nine seats and Peter Daguia's conservative, anti-Communist United Force won two.

Had Been Ousted

The British ousted a government headed by Jagan in 1953, charging that he was planning to establish a Communist beachhead on South America's north coast.

flanking the Panama Canal. In elections in 1957 the PPP won 9 of the 14 legislative council seats and Jagan became minister of industry, a post equivalent to premier under British governor Sir Ralph Grey.

Jagan was expected to come to Georgetown today from his inland home district to accept Grey's invitation to become British Guiana's first premier in name as well as fact.

Britain has promised the colony internal self-government and said it could apply for independence within two years. Jagan is expected to demand independence within the Commonwealth immediately. He also opposed British Guiana's entry into the West Indies Federation and says he will hold a referendum on the question.

Racial Lines

The Western world watched the election with concern because of Jagan's avowed friendship toward Communist countries and the Castro regime. But the election apparently was decided on racial lines.

Jagan was backed largely by his fellow East Indians, who were brought to the country to work the rice and sugar fields and who now make up about half the population of 560,000. The Negroes supported Burnham, while the colony's business community, Europeans and Roman Catholics, liked Daguia, a beer baron of Portuguese extraction.

Jagan and Burnham won legislative seats easily. Daguia was elected from Georgetown after a hard campaign fight with Winifred Gaskin, wife of former West Indian cricketer Berkeley Gaskin.

Jagan called himself a Socialist and said his government would emulate the neutralist policy of India and Ghana. He disclaimed plans to nationalize industry and said he would accept economic aid from "the United States, Britain or Russia without commitment of any sort."

Today's Chuckle

One secretary to another: "You'll love it here — once you accept the fact that there's absolutely no chance for advancement within two years. Jagan is expected to demand independence

No War Fear Is Found in Vienna

BY VICTOR RIESEL

VIENNA — Strangely, there is no fear of war over Berlin along the safe-laden boulevards of Europe's capitals. Only once did fear of this "idiot's delight" send a tremor and trauma across the continent. That came when Nikita S. Khrushchev withdrew his submarines from the Albanian port of Durazzo. As the subs slithered away, word wildfired everywhere that the Soviets were sending them to sea or withdrawing them to safer bull pens before our Sixth Fleet could hit them.

Riesel

Here in Vienna, the outpost city on the edge of the Communist world, it is believed that the Soviets moved their submarines not out of fear of our fleet, nor to mow down our fleet, but out of fear of being blackmailed by their Chinese comrades. The Chinese Communists know how to handle old shoeclapper Khrushchev. To bring him into line and get him out of the Albanian port of Durazzo, which they wanted as a port of entry into Europe, they threatened to waltz the Soviet chairman around in Vienna just as he arrived for summitry with President John Kennedy. To avoid an incident, the Russian leader gave the Chinese what they wanted — and proved that he too can be had. Since we're jousting with him over Berlin, it is nice to know he doesn't always win.

Angered by Effort
All this began when the Peiping government was angered by Khrushchev's effort to slow its sales of goods in Iron Curtain bloc countries. The Communist lands are part of something called Comecon—roughly the equivalent of the European Common Market. Under the Comecon agreement, the Mao Tse-tung regime has the right to ship its produce into Eastern Europe.

This agreement called for the use of the Albanian port of Durazzo. Khrushchev had Durazzo all tied up as a naval—especially a submarine—base. So he forced the Red Chinese to ship their material through the free port of Trieste.

This was a clever maneuver. Many longshoremen and bureaucrats there are Communists—disciplined by the Italian Communist party. This party is thoroughly controlled in turn by Moscow through special secret Czechoslovakian agents.

Old Network Technique
These Czech agents sit deep in the inner apparatus of the Italian Communist movement. The Czechs take their orders from the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party and transmit them to the movement in Italy. This has never been revealed. But the technique is an old one inside the global Communist network—the American Communist party, for example, once was directly under the control of French Communists.

The orders from Moscow to the Czech agents in Italy were to slow up the shipments of Chinese goods into Eastern Europe. Khrushchev was trying to teach Mao a lesson.

It was easy for the Italian Communists to red-tape the Chinese. Peiping's people soon learned that the Italian longshoremen delayed unloading their goods. When the crates were finally unloaded, papers for clearing the stuff for reshipment were lost in a deep maze of bureaucracy which would have made even a Zanzibar customs inspector proud. The material from Communist China flowed out of Trieste like a dry river.

Nothing Happened
So the Chinese learned how gossamer a thing Communist solidarity could be. They protested to Moscow. Nothing happened.

Finally, sometime before Khrushchev took the train for that tough two-day session with John Kennedy here, word came from Peiping that the Chinese Communists would make some move to blow the summit skyward unless Khrushchev let them sell their goods in Europe. This could best be done by shifting the port of entry from Trieste to Durazzo in Albania. But the Soviets had their submarines there. The Chinese told Khrushchev to get them out and open the port facilities. Khrushchev did just that.

The Chinese have an old proverb. To catch a thief you must think like a thief. To outmaneuver Khrushchev, you must handle Khrushchev as Khrushchev would handle Khrushchev.

They did. They won.

Jewish Youths Told to Avoid Mixed Marriages

STARLIGHT, Pa. (AP)—Jewish teen-agers were told Sunday that interfaith marriages threaten the survival of Judaism and are a peril to personal happiness.

A report to the 38th annual convention of the Aleph Zadik Aleph—boys' division of B'nai B'rith—said:

"Both Christian and Jewish clergymen have consistently opposed such marriages not because they thought their religions superior, but because they know that marriage at best has many challenges. Where there is religious difference there is an added and serious hurdle."

Traffic Crash Kills Three Generations Of Same Family

BUHL, Idaho (AP)—A traffic accident Sunday wiped out five members of three generations of a southern Idaho family.

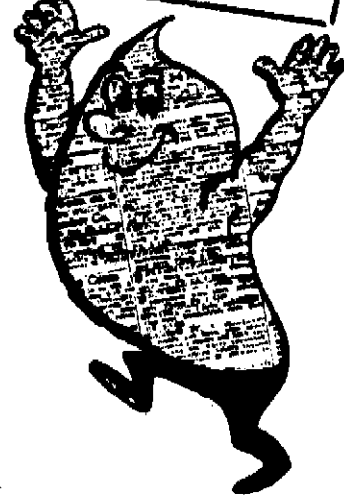

Six persons were killed in the two-car crash at a country road intersection.

Judith Anderson, 18, of Buhl, died of injuries last midnight. She was alone in one car.

Driving the other car was Ivan Kistler, 26, of nearby Filer. He was critically hurt.

His wife Betty, 22, and their son, Edward, 4 months, were killed. So was Ivan's brother Michael, 11, and their parents, Albert L. and Delma G. Kistler, both about 50, of Buhl. All lived at Filer.

The Negative Approach

Premier Khrushchev, not a shy retiring sort of man, wants to go down in Russian and world history as a greater leader than old Joe Stalin whom he denounced several years ago. But the situation he has set up in the last few months indicates that he may be remembered as the champion bumbler of all time. The danger is that he may complete his role by stumbling into a world - destroying conflict.

Russia's greatest fear, and a logical one, is a strong Germany, militarily and economically threatening the Communist way of life. And so Khrushchev, by his strong arm methods in Hungary, his threats to Berlin, his "We will bury you!" speeches, his intentions of signing a separate peace treaty with East Germany, and his scuttling of past treaties has managed to build up Germany. Without the Russian pressure, which threatens the rest of the world via Germany, it is doubtful that the military and financial aid to Germany would have been so great. The powers that fought Germany in World War II would more likely have cooperated to hold down German production as well as German rearming. The fears of another Prussian behemoth swarming through the Low Countries and France could have been maintained for decades.

But now Germans are part of NATO's army; France acknowledges the necessity of cooperating with its ancient archenemy, Germany; England has joined the Common Market which battles Communist economic moves; Russia is ringed with missile centers and armies which expect the Communists to move at any time.

The threats to Berlin have driven out of East Germany the educated and the able. In the last few weeks thousands have streamed out seriously hurting the economy despite ties to homeland and relatives. The Poles have come to hate Russians as much as they hated Germans. The satellite countries would be a bulwark to Western attack only in land miles. Even the Russian people themselves are reported to be frightened that war is coming and they remember the last one too vividly.

Last month the Communist party in Russia issued a manifesto of its philosophy and policies. But in the party's promises for the future Khrushchev seemed only to indicate the lacks of the present. After 40 years of socialism the Russians not only are not as fortunate as the people in capitalist countries in the matter of consumer goods and the variety and low cost of foods, but they do not have as much free education, as extensive medical aid to the poor and the aged, as many miles of railroads, as much low-cost housing as exists per capita in the United States. Women in the future will be free of homemaking chores when they hold outside jobs, says Khrushchev. But today they labor in the streets or in quarries and then come to their inadequate cold flats and start all over again.

The message of the Communist party as to the marvels that can be expected in the next ten years makes one wonder just what has been accomplished in the last 40.

Khrushchev has managed to build up Germany, to unify Western Europe, to arouse hatred among the peoples of Eastern Europe, to scare his own citizens, to prove that Communism does not have the answers to economic privation. He'll go down in history all right—if he doesn't manage to blow up the world and its history with it.

Your County Government

County government tends to be among the least understood of public institutions, perhaps because it spends comparatively less money than local, state and national governments.

As a link between state and municipalities and as a center for courts, welfare programs, highway maintenance and other services, county government merits more understanding and attention than it gets.

Good county government needs leaders and voters who know not only the current political picture, but also the frame for it—the government's history, structure and functions.

A handy help in understanding county government has just been published by Appleton League of Women Voters. It is "This Is Outagamie County—A Study of the County in Which You Have Chosen to Live." This illustrated 56-page booklet is full of information about history, government organization and functions and public and private services.

"This Is Outagamie County" is a comprehensive reference book and pictures the county as a prosperous, growing area. It also points out some gaps that are worth thinking about.

"The citizens of Outagamie County need and deserve far more library service than what is presently offered to them. . . . The question at this time is not just the recognition of the need for improved library service, but also what system will best suit Outagamie County."

"An integrated program of aid which will concurrently better their economic, educational, health and recreational status seems essential to a more adequate existence for Outagamie County's Oneida Indian group."

"The nursing program services a population of approximately 54,000, a ratio of one nurse per 25,000 population, although the State Department recommends a ratio of one nurse per 5,000."

"Due to the fact that the present facilities on Ballard Road are considered inadequate and not safe for the larger planes needed in the future for this rapidly growing area, the supervisors of Outagamie County and many major industries in the Fox Valley have requested a new airport. . . . It appears that all efforts to cooperate with Winnebago County on a joint airport are lost; hence the urgency for Outagamie County to develop her own facilities for the future. . . ."

"There are questions pending as to the real place of the County Fair Association in relation to the Outagamie County government. Among them are the constant changes in the pattern of Outagamie County from a rural to an urban county. . . ."

A publication such as "This Is Outagamie County" should circulate more widely than the 7,500 copies the league has published.

Keep Your Distance and Live

Many automobile drivers have a fault which causes 10 per cent of the automobile accidents. It is prohibited by law yet continues because it is preventable only by care and conscience of the driver.

The fault is following too closely. This is in violation of the law and yet no police force has found a way to enforce the rule. Certainly there are penalties inflicted for violations but all come after an accident has occurred.

Recently the safety director of the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department issued advice to drivers on this subject. The rule is to keep one car length behind the car ahead of you for each 10 miles of speed registered on your speedometer. More cautious safety experts advise a length and a half of your car for each 10 miles of speed until your speed exceeds 20; three lengths per 10 miles of speed up to 60, and at 70 a total of 32 car lengths.

Motorists who attempt to maintain the proper distance frequently are annoyed by having cars cut in ahead of them and thus reduce their distance from the car ahead by half.

As annoying as this may be, the Motor Vehicle Department's advice to the motorist is to continue to maintain a safe distance regardless of the irritations one suffers from unsafe drivers. It is a driving hazard which all must expect and tolerate.

As Soviets Advance Into Space, Crime Rate Rises Back on Earth

From The New York Herald-Tribune

As the Soviet Union advances in outer space, its crime rate advances at home. The relationship between the two is not yet clear, and we may have to await Nikita Khrushchev's report to the next party congress for some light on this Soviet phenomenon.

Meanwhile, the world will simply have to sit back and wonder at the latest development — the execution of two men for engaging in currency speculation. They were condemned to death by shooting on July 20 by the Soviet Supreme Court, which overruled fifteen-year prison terms handed down by a lower court June 23 and applied a decree of July 1 making the death penalty applicable to "speculation in currency or securities as a business."

Retrospective Law

The fact that the highest court of the Soviet Union is applying a law retroactively will not surprise any one acquainted with Soviet practices, legal and otherwise. Surprising is the decision by the Soviet Union, at a time when it claims to be overtaking the United States in every field, to depart from practices in most civilized countries and to reintroduce the death penalty for crimes (other than those involving state security and murder) for the first time since the end of World War II. Evidently crime is rising in the Soviet Union at a far higher rate than had heretofore been imagined abroad.

Political as well as economic crimes are on the rise. The chief Soviet prosecutor has just announced that Soviet citizens need not fear prosecution if they injure or kill a "hooligan" in self-defense. He said the Soviet Union must encourage self-defense because "it is impossible to have a policeman standing on every corner."

Broad Term

So it's open season on "hooligans" on any corner of the Soviet Union. There remains the little matter of deciding who is a "hooligan." The term has been applied to any one disgruntled with the regime or suspiciously interested in the outside world. It has also been

'I'm Right Behind You!'

An August Tragedy

Two Italian Cities Buried by Mount Vesuvius 1800 Years Ago

BY LYNN POOLE

The John Hopkins University

For centuries August has been the height of vacations and tourist travel. More people are "in residence" at summer homes and cottages during August than any other month of the year. In ancient Greece well-to-do Athenians went to the mountains to escape the city heat. Residents from Rome trekked to mountains and seashore for the same reason.

Such was the case in ancient Pompeii and Herculaneum, two flourishing cities near the Bay of Naples. The twin cities at the Base of Mt. Vesuvius were opulent with villas of wealthy Romans, and cluttered with the homes of permanent residents who made their living off the temporary visitors from Rome.

In August of 79 A. D. both cities were full. Patrician families competed with each other in lavish entertainments within their villas and at parties after performances in the great amphitheatres. The great earthquake of 63 A. D. which wreaked havoc, was forgotten. Rome was powerful. Money was plentiful. Revelry was at the peak.

Vesuvius Erupts
Early in August the earth shook with tremors. The second week of August brought minor quakes. By mid-August the long dormant Vesuvius belched forth clouds of white vapor. A few people worried, but most paid little attention. Vesuvius had not erupted for centuries.

On August 23, the ground shook from an earthquake and everyone was concerned. Huddled conferences took place among vacationers. Should they stay or return to Rome? Permanent residents consulted each other. Should they leave? Would Vesuvius erupt? That day, August 23, hundreds of people made hurried exit. Most remained.

Aug. 24 dawned clear and hot. Then it happened. Vesuvius erupted with a hurricane blast. Nauseous gases permeated the air around Pompeii and Herculaneum. The sun was blotted out by giant clouds of black ash and small cinders, especially thick over Pompeii. Every few seconds Vesuvius exploded with a deafening roar and soon the streets of Pompeii were covered with black ash which rose in small puffs under feet of running people from place to place.

Herculaneum was being inundated with a watery flow of thick black ash, brought down the slopes of Vesuvius by melting ice.

With each ensuing minute the ash in Pompeii and watery flow at Herculaneum increased. Men, women and children coughed and were choked by the gas which became heavier. People grabbed a few belongings and made their escape. Others remained too long. A rescue attempt was made by Pliny The Elder who commanded a fleet off shore. He lost his life, as did many who failed to get away from the twin cities.

Find Relics of Tragedy
Swiftly both cities were roof deep. Soon both cities were buried, and virtually forgotten in the centuries to come. Pliny's nephew, Pliny The Younger, was one of those who escaped and wrote letters to the famous Roman, Tacitus. In these letters young Pliny described the devastating event.

In the 18th Century a well was being drilled on the site of Pompeii. Statues were discovered. Excavators brought up more statues. Later in the 1800's archaeologists began systematic digging and now have uncovered the buried cities. Bones of bakers were found beside their ovens. A woman with her jewels was found just inside the gate of her villa. Prisoners chained to a rock lay sprawled in silent testimony to the tragedy. Today visitors can see evidences of the luxury in two cities which were obliterated more than 1800 years ago.

Romanticists have fabricated a fable about the cities, obviously done to make the event more dramatic. One will read that of the 20,000 people in Pompeii, 18,000 perished. This is fiction, not fact. If 18,000 perished, 18,000 skeletons would have been uncovered. Only a few skeletons, relative to the large population present on Aug. 24, 79 A. D., have been found. Obviously most did escape. The same is true for Herculaneum. Those few give fact to the destruction wrought by Vesuvius on two cities buried and forgotten for centuries.

Sidelights of Civil War News

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 22, 1861.

Gen. Fremont has declared martial law in St. Louis. He is said to have declared that any person caught burning railroad bridges, cutting telegraph wires or firing at trains will be hung at once.

Kentucky and Tennessee have been constituted a separate military command to be called the Department of Cumberland. Brig. Gen. Robert Anderson is in command.

Sixty-six of the Second Maine Regiment, which has been shown insubordinate and refractory, have been put aboard the Powhattan and will be sent to the Tortugas to work out three years on the fortifications.

The Congressional Investigation Committee has made important discoveries, showing that traitors and spies daily frequent the various departments of government and procure information which is regularly transmitted to the enemy. Potter's Committee reported 13 disloyal clerks, and not a few disaffected army officers; to the Secretary of the Treasury, 51 disloyal and 10 suspected; to the Secretary of the Interior, 20 disloyal and seven suspected.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Aug. 18, 1896

Critical conditions in war-torn Spain and Europe were disclosed authoritatively to have prompted President Roosevelt to put a check on any plans that would call for his being far from Washington for any extended period.

The French government, hopeful of concluding agreement to neutrality in the Spanish civil war without further delay, gave earnest attention to Germany's conditions in accepting the pact.

Mrs. Harold W. Miller, Appleton, was elected second vice president of the state department of the American Legion

University Conflict Proof That It's Alive

BY CONRAD A. ELVEHJEM
MADISON — Why is the University of Wisconsin always in the news?

That question often is asked of us, most often by those who have deep affection for the university and are unhappy that while the university usually is highly praised in the press, it sometimes suffers bitter criticism.

My answer in brief is that they would not be half so fond of the university if it were not for the fact that it is a place where ideas are welcomed, the exchange of points of view encouraged. All other things being equal, or nearly so, the scholar with ideas will seek a place in such an institution, for it will afford him an opportunity to be heard. Thus Wisconsin has, for years, attracted a great faculty, and the faculty in turn has attracted imaginative, creative students from all over the world.

The combination of a great faculty and creative students leads to institutional greatness — but also, inevitably, to lively conflict. To those jarred by an occasional clash at the university which reaches the headlines or the editorial pages I suggest patience and faith, for out of such conflict we often, in the past, have taken great strides ahead.

MONEY PROBLEMS
I would like to make one other brief point. I noted above that "all other things being equal, or nearly so," great faculty members are attracted to a university with Wisconsin's freedom.

One of the university's current and continuing problems in maintaining its great faculty, and attracting young faculty members of high potential, is providing "all other things," particularly salaries and facilities comparable to those available at many lesser institutions.

The university is fortunate to have faculty members of such loyalty that they stay despite salary offers we are unable to match. The Regents of the University and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education have recognized the salary and facility problems and are doing all within their power to solve them. Credit for extending the state's financial aid as far as it could be stretched for the next biennium goes to Gov. Gaylord Nelson, the legislature, and its joint committee on finance.

The university owes much to the people of Wisconsin who, for more than a century, have tolerated its idiosyncrasies, and have given it the freedom to progress and the essentials for operation. Ours is not a rich state, our university is not well-endowed financially, but our state and university have the sort of pioneering spirit, open minds, and determination to move ahead that are of great importance in creating and maintaining the good life, good living, and a great university.

DIFFICULTIES

Personally, I would have the university no other way, though presiding over an institution so lively, so pioneering, so free, and so fondly regarded by so many, is not an unmixed pleasure.

With considerably less finan-

All Is Not Lost

From Changing Times

It is said that 30,000,000 Americans are taking adult education courses. Makes you realize that we must be years ahead of the Russians in leather-tooling and ceramics.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Aug. 21, 1951

Alfred Kohlberg, long time critic of state department policy in China, gave what he called "my informed guess" that "a deal has been made" for settlement of the Korean war and that the present truce conferences "are shadow boxing."

President Truman asked Congress for $400,000,000 to help the flood-battered middle west and to finance a new national flood disaster insurance program.

William Pifer, Appleton, manager of the H. C. Prange Company, was to be blood chairman for the Outagamie County American Red Cross chapter.

Fred Gehrk, manager of the Wisconsin State Employment Service office in Appleton, spoke on civil defense to a group of Wisconsin Michigan Power Company employees.

Norbert Brunner, sixth grade teacher at Jefferson School, Neenah, for the past year, was appointed principal of the school to replace Miss Verla Wennick, who had been fifth grade teacher and principal of the school for the past 10 years.

Soviets Plug Last Big Hole In Iron Curtain

4 Million People Have Fled, Most Through Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—When the Communists closed the border between East and West Berlin, they plugged the last big hole in the giant Iron Curtain that fences off the Red satellites from the free world.

Since 1946, about four million people have slipped out of East Germany. Many came via the Berlin escape hatch.

Following World War II, East Germany was the Soviet zone of occupation. Until 1949, crossing into West Germany was no problem. Soviet soldiers checked road and rail communications but the way was mostly open across the fields and through the woods.

Frontier Patrols The Soviets set up their puppet East German People's Democracy and East German guards began to reinforce the Soviet border patrols. Traffic across the border became more difficult. East German Communist police began sharing control duties with the Soviets.

In 1952, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government signed the European Defense Community treaty, replaced later by the Western European Union which allowed West Germany to rearm. The Soviets and their East German satellites brought the Iron Curtain down across Germany, extending the barbed wire fences already strung along the borders of the other Communist states.

But Berlin still was technically an occupied city, divided into Western and Communist zones, with free movement across the border guaranteed by four-power agreements between the Western Allies and the Soviets.

Road to Freedom The city became the only easy road to freedom for East Germans who wouldn't put up with communism. The Red regime had made East Berlin their capital, so it was a logical place for East Germans to visit. Once there it was a simple matter for the would Fred Kienitz, Left, was honored at a dinner party Saturday at the Elks Club on his retirement from the Wisconsin Telephone Co. after 46 years. Congratulating him are J. W. Donohue, T. R. Plopper and Elmer Justman, telephone company engineers. All four are from Appleton.

Newcomers Featured in Players' Cast

Two to Make Debut In Comedy Tonight At Peninsula Theater

FISH CREEK — Two newcomers to Door County audiences will make their debut tonight as Peninsula Players present their opening performance of "Under the Yum-Yum Tree," the successful Broadway comedy written by Lawrence Roman. Curtain time is set for 8:30 p.m.

Douglas Allerman, recently lauded for his supporting role in "Harvey" in Chicago with Joe E. Brown, will appear in the role created on Broadway by Gig Young. Geneva Bugbee, another newcomer, recently appeared with Charles Coburn in "You Can't Take It With You."

Reds Determined to Take Over Berlin

Khrushchev Trying to Control City Without Risking a War

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may seem unbelievable but after months of East West shouting and maneuvering over this one main point still isn't clear: What's really driving Premier Khrushchev in all this? Why does he consider it a "toothache" and a bone in his throat? There are plenty of ideas on it — such as pressure from his partners in the Kremlin, pressure from the East Germans, and so on — but so far as is publicly known they're guesses and perhaps not even good ones.

The answer may be much simpler — that Khrushchev, as the leader of communism, considers it necessary and the time right to start shutting West Berlin off from the West — once the background is considered. Since 1946 communism has been able to take over mainland China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Albania, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and East Berlin. But here is West Berlin which the Communists haven't been able to absorb even though it lies 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, has 12,500 Allied troops there, and a 2 1/4 million anti-Communist population devoted to the West.

This makes it a Western and capitalistic island in a Communist ocean. Worse still, from the Communist view, West Berlin's brilliant economic success makes it a shining contrast to the drab Communist world around it.

So long as it stands free — deep inside the Communist world — it is a constant reminder to Khrushchev and his partners that their threat to communize the world looks absurd.

So, without trying to figure who's twisting Khrushchev's arm to seal off West Berlin, it's easier and perhaps more sensible to assume he or anyone else who happened to be leading the Communist world would on his own want to grab the city.

This much can be taken for granted: Khrushchev is going to try to take over the city, if not immediately then eventually, and without war if he can avoid it. It wouldn't be smart for him to risk war to get the city this year — since war could destroy Russia itself — if he thinks, and he probably does, that he can get it in a few more years peacefully anyway. How could he do that?

By trickery, by promises he intends to break, by diminishing bit by bit the Western Allies' willingness to fight for the city until, in the end, having made a number of concessions, they make the final one.

For example, 1. He wants the Allied troops out of Berlin. But those 12,500 men, surrounded as they are by 30 to 40 times their number in

Tuesday, August 22, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent A9

Communist troops in East Germany, are really not a defensive force at all. Only a Symbol They're only a symbol of the Allies' claim to the legal right to have them there under wartime and postwar agreements with Russia. The main Allied fighting forces are outside the East German borders.

But if the Allies agree to withdraw these symbolic forces, they have yielded on a point they have made a principle in their dispute over Berlin. It would be a big concession.

2. He's threatened to turn over to the East German Communists control of all the routes over which people and supplies, civilian and military, move from the West through East Germany to West Berlin.

Only 5 Per Cent In actual practice this wouldn't mean much since 95 per cent of noose.

such traffic is civilian and the East Germans control that. The Russians control the remaining 5 per cent which is Allied military. But agreeing to this — even though Khrushchev guaranteed none of the traffic would be blocked by the East Germans — would be one more concession although it's hard to see what the Allies can do about it if Khrushchev makes good his threat.

The West might not want to fight over dealing with the East Germans on that 5 per cent of military traffic, particularly if Khrushchev promises it would not be interfered with. And so on.

Once the concessions are made — temporarily settling the Berlin dispute — the Communists in a year or so can fund some other excuse for tightening the Berlin mean much since 95 per cent of noose.

Labor Boss Heads Revolt in Cincinnati

James Luken in Washington to Get Help of Meany, Bob Kennedy

BY JAMES MCCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — New and bigger guns were being rolled up to-day aimed squarely at Teamsters' union tough-guy Jimmy Hoffa.

George R. Meany, president of the giant AFL-CIO, was on pub-tain the cost-of-living allowance provided in current contracts. American Motors Corp. earlier had asked the union to abandon cost-of-living increases in return for a profit-sharing plan.

Moving Allowance

They proposed transfer of 12 cents of the present 17-cent cost-of-living allowance into the base wage of hourly rated employees.

All three also offered a new moving allowance plan for employees transferred from one plant to another outside the area (Chrysler stipulated 50 miles or more), improved pension benefits, liberalized medical insurance benefits, and more life insurance.

Reply to AMC Awarded

GM timed its proposal for presentation to the UAW bargaining team on the same day the union was scheduled to reply to American Motors Corp.'s package offer, which includes a profit-sharing plan. AMC, which plays a lone role in dealing with UAW, made its surprise offer July 28.

Earl R. Bramblett, GM's director of labor relations, said he had not been in consultation with AMC's negotiators.

He said that GM negotiations were following a normal pattern with the company making an offer nine days before contract expiration.

Big Three contracts expire Aug. 31. The AMC contract runs out a week later.

Called Unacceptable

Besides profit-sharing, AMC has offered its 23,000 hourly employees a seven-cent wage increase annually over the next three years. In exchange it proposed scrapping the annual improvement factor wage increase and cost of living escalator in the present contract.

The UAW termed the AMC package unacceptable but said it offered a basis for negotiations.

The union did not call a strike vote at AMC as it did at the Big Three plants.

The UAW reported votes of GM, Ford and Chrysler workers were running from 80 to 98 per cent in favor of a strike if necessary to back up the union's demands. The votes are to be completed this week. The UAW Executive Board will meet next Tuesday to discuss strategy and possibly pick one of the Big Three as a strike target.

GM, Ford and Chrysler last month rejected the over-all bargaining goals of the union but left the way open for give and take on specific demands. The UAW's program called for an unspecified wage increase, salaries for hourly workers, reduced work time such as a shorter work week and expanded fringe benefits.

Fire Destroys Barn, Animals

Hay, Machinery Also Burn on Farm in Brown County

Post-Crescent News Service

LUXEMBURG — Fire Monday afternoon destroyed two large barns, most of a third, animals, hay and machinery at the Ervin Seifert farm, Luxemburg, route 3.

Destroyed were barns 96 by 36 feet and 56 by 28 feet. Another, a new pole barn 75 by 40 feet, now has about only 20 feet of space remaining. Also lost were eight calves, 14 pigs, a lamb, hay blower, chopper wagon and tractor. A modern milk house was gutted.

No estimate of damage was reported.

Kenny Allen, a hired hand, was unloading chopped straw from the chopper wagon into the blower at about 2:15 p.m. He said the chopped straw went into flames quickly and that the fire apparently started near the top of the pile.

Keith Seifert, 4, was on the seat of the tractor hooked to the chopper wagon. Allen took the boy to safety and called firemen.

The Denmark Fire Dept. and Duquaine's Fire Dept., 200 Franklen, answered the call and saved the granary and machine shed.

Neighbors Marvin Deterville and Ralph Vanden Bush were among the first to arrive at the scene. They helped Allen save some hams. Water was brought to the scene by tank trucks.

lic record for the first time in more than three years as an openly ally of Teamster locals that are willing to dump Hoffa.

Meany, talking tough himself, met yesterday with the leader of a Cincinnati rebel group that has bolted Hoffa's rule.

He urged the group in public to free itself officially from Hoffa's "gangster domination."

More Allies

Meany, however, wasn't the only ally enlisting by the Cincinnati leader, James T. Luken, 39, on a day trip to Washington.

Luken spent part of the day visiting with "old friends" at the Justice Department who acknowledged privately that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is "100 per cent" behind the Cincinnati revolt.

Luken is an old friend of the youthful attorney general, a longtime enemy of Hoffa's. Their friendship dates from Kennedy's days as chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee.

In the background of these meetings, however, was another development that could also prove ominous for Hoffa. The House approved three of the attorney general's requested anti-racketeering bills.

The attorney general has made it clear that he feels that his package of anti-crime bills, seven in all, could provide potent weapons against Hoffa.

Could Hurt Hoffa

If any of these developments should eventually hurt Hoffa and his rule as president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters they would be achievements of major note.

A federal court with a tough judge and an elaborate "board of monitors" tried to nail Hoffa. It failed.

And even Congress, which wrote the Landrum-Griffin Labor Reform Act in large part as an anti-Hoffa measure, has flopped so far.

Meany's meeting with Luken took place in the modern AFL-CIO headquarters building here and lasted for over an hour.

Would Get Support

When it was over Meany publicly assured the Cincinnati local of "continued and wholehearted support" from the AFL-CIO.

In effect, Meany stepped into the Cincinnati situation with a big wedge to try to widen the crack in Hoffa's dike.

The crack was created under the leadership of Luken, president of Local 98, Dairy Employees, and president of Cincinnati Teamsters Joint Council No. 26.

Luken led his own union and three others, with a membership totaling about 4,000, out of Hoffa's Teamsters and is seeking to affiliate all of them with the AFL-CIO.

Meany issued a statement saying how pleased he was with recent developments in Cincinnati—developments which he said the AFL-CIO "heartily welcomes."

Files Petition

He mentioned that Luken's Dairy Worker's Union has filed a petition for a National Labor Relations Board election by secret ballot to determine whether the union, now that it's out from under Hoffa's wing, can be an official bargaining agent.

The union voted itself out of Hoffa's Teamsters at a public membership meeting. The vote was 1,796 to 2.

Meany said he was anxious for the members to register their feelings on official government ballots in secret.

He added that he was "confident" that the workers would vote "overwhelmingly" for his union.

To Put It Mildly: Johnson's Berlin Visit

LONDON (AP)—Pravda said today Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson "fraternized with and embraced political rogues and adventurers" on his West Berlin visit.

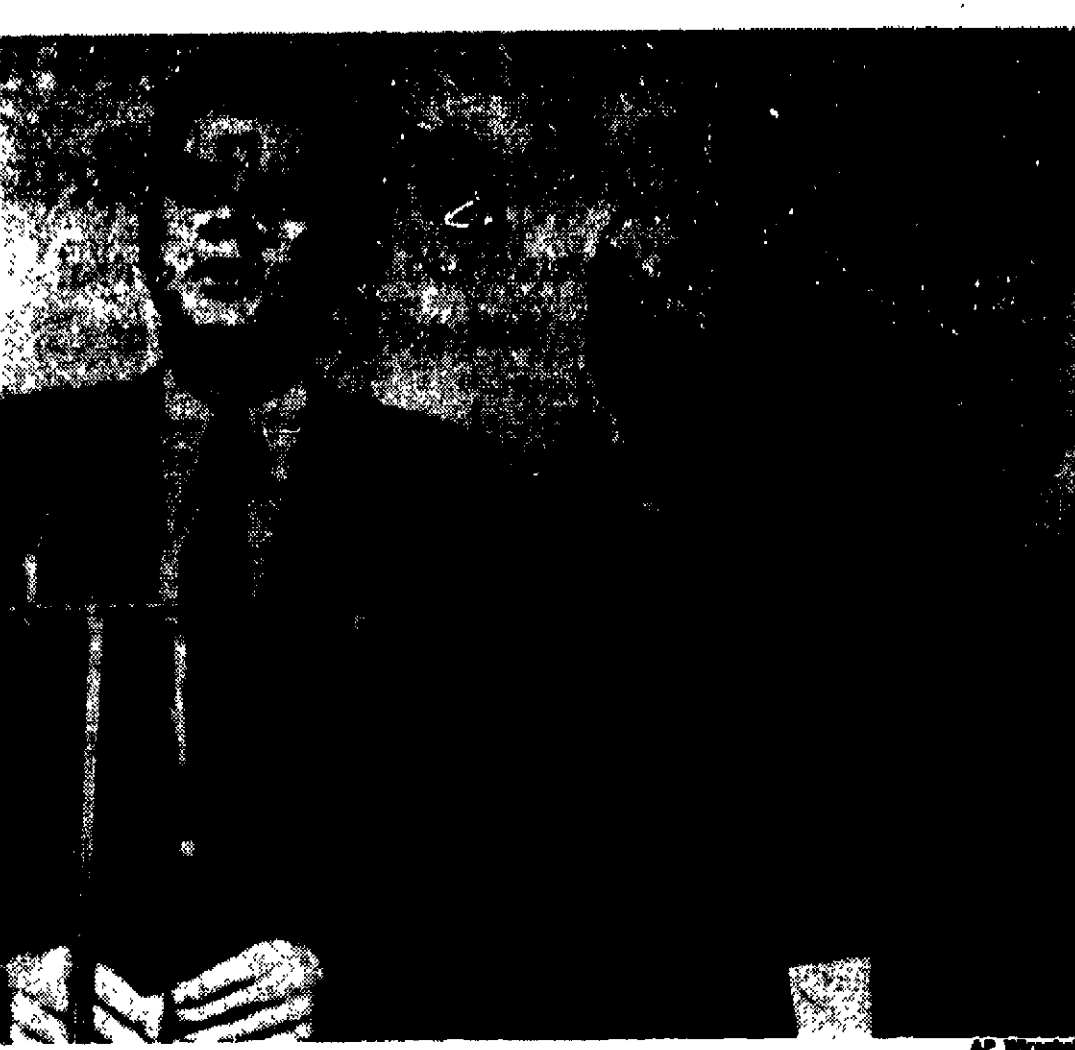

The Soviet communist party organ, quoted by Tass, declared: "The vice president tried to drag Burgomaster Willy Brandt (the West Berlin mayor) by the ears out of his own stinking bog of the 'front line city' in which he had started to choke."

Names are the Same—Only the Faces Have Been Changed

DEFUNIAK SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — Roy Rogers has been charged with shooting Jack Armstrong with a gun belonging to Gene Autry.

The three, all Negroes, are residents of the Flowers Quarters community north of Defuniak Springs.

Sheriff Andy Anderson said Rogers had been jailed on an assault charge. Armstrong was hospitalized.

President Kennedy is shown as he pledged to maintain West Berlin's freedom Sunday night after receiving a first-hand report from Vice President Johnson on Johnson's mission to Germany. Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk listen to the chief executive's remarks.

Decorated Lawn Arouses Wrath Of Homeowner

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert M. Birch telephoned police headquarters Monday and said she had some ornaments on her lawn.

"That's nice," said the officer. "No, it isn't," she said. "They don't belong to me and I want you to come and take them away."

Police found 13 imitation ducks, 7 flamingoes, a statue of a boy eating cherries, a plastic frog, a ceramic black cat, two ornamental wheelbarrows filled with flowers and a statue of a jockey.

Police carted the ducks and flamingoes, mostly made of concrete, and the other stuff off to their warehouse. Detectives started an investigation.

Mrs. E. F. Harris Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. E. F. Harris, 72, 121 N. Appleton St., will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday from the Wichmann Funeral Home with burial in Riverside Cemetery.

Mrs. Harris died early Tuesday morning after a long illness. She is survived by her husband, two children, a sister, a brother and four grandchildren.

She was a member of a pioneer ranking Soviet leader would arrive soon in East Berlin, presumably in an effort to counter the effect of the hero's welcome and had been built by her father.

13 to stop the flow of refugees and commuters to the West.

Adenauer's opponents in West Berlin have criticized him for delaying his visit until the tension had begun to subside.

Signs displayed at the arrival last weekend of U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, emphasizing Adenauer's delay, said "Washington is closer than Bonn."

Adenauer went directly from the airport to visit the West Berlin refugee reception center at Marienfelde.

Cheered by Refugees

He was cheered and nearly mobbed there by several hundred recently arrived refugees from East Germany.

Police had to force a way through the throng.

Adenauer stopped briefly to assure the refugees that their brethren in East Berlin and East Germany would never be forgotten and then left for a tour of the wall erected by the communist regime.

Rumors circulated that a high-ranking Soviet leader would arrive soon in East Berlin, presumably in an effort to counter the effect of the hero's welcome and had been built by her father.

In Battle Position

One company of the British garrison's infantry brigade already was drawn up in battle position opposite Communist forces along the zonal border. The company deployed with tanks, mortars and anti-tank guns Monday when the East German Reds showed up with several hundred heavily armed soldiers and armored cars to mend holes in the fences blocking off the British sector.

Today the barrier had been strengthened and the hundreds of Red reinforcements had withdrawn. The Communists resumed their usual routine of patrolling and the British tanks and infantry began to withdraw.

The British said they would repeat such shows of force every time there is similar activity by the Communists. American and French military authorities indicated they were ready to do the same.

In East Germany, the Red regime strove to make life harder for the 80,000 East Berliners who held jobs in West Berlin until the border was closed.

The workers reportedly are being taunted for disloyalty to East Germany and are being punished by being forced to do tough, low-paid work. It was expected that many would be driven from their homes and scattered throughout the hinterland, to rid East Berlin of an element potentially dangerous to the Communists.

Four Injured in Two-Car Accident North of Suring

OCOONTO — Four persons were injured late Sunday in a two-car accident on Highway 32 10 miles north of Suring, county traffic police reported Monday.

Taken to the Oconto Falls Hospital were Ronald D. Bessette, 27, driver of one of the cars, his wife, Kathleen, 25, his sister, Audrey, 28, all of Appleton, and Theodore Hankinson, 24, Clymer, Pa., driver of the other car.

Bessette got a bruised leg. Mrs. Bessette was cut and bruised, and Hankinson sustained head cuts. Two Bessette children, Ronald, 6, and Brian, 3, were not injured.

Miss Bessette was brought to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Appleton, by Lindy's Ambulance from the Oconto Falls Hospital. She received a broken collar bone in the accident and required 36 stitches on her face.

Traffic police reported that the collision occurred when Hankinson made a left turn in front of the approaching Bessette vehicle. In justice court here Monday Hankinson admitted a charge of drunken driving and was fined $125 and costs.

Editor Attacks Birch Society As 'Blinding'

Students Also Hear Federal Education Aid Densured

MADISON (AP)—A congressman and a conservative editor spoke Monday night to delegates attending the 14th annual National Student Association congress.

The lawmaker, Rep. Albert E. Quie, R-Minn., told the gathering on the University of Wisconsin campus "there is no need for general federal aid to our country's elementary and secondary public schools."

The editor, William F. Buckley Jr., of the National Review, was denied a formal appearance before the congress, so he spoke at an off-campus hall. The crowd was so large the meeting had to be moved outside to the lawn.

Rage Birch Society

Buckley attacked liberalism and criticized the ultra-conservative John Birch Society.

The views of founder Robert Welch have come to dominate the society, Buckley said. He added that Welch is blinding people to reality when he attempts to convince them that former President Eisenhower is a Communist.

The liberals, Buckley said, "need an object of hysteria." The object formerly was the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., and now is the John Birch Society.

Buckley also said that liberals are failing to come to grips with world realities. "The conservative," he said, "can resist and must resist the temptation to use government to realize quick ends at the expense of individual rights and liberties."

Crisis in Colleges

Quie said federal financial aid to education should be limited to schools of higher learning. He said those who call for the aid at the grade and high school level cannot justify their position.

Greatly increased enrollments, Quie said, have generated a "genuine crisis" at the college and university level. He added, "I want the federal government to continue its traditional assistance to higher education, assistance which has always been based on proven need and directed towards specific ends."

Four Fined for Topsy Driving

Drivers License Revoked for Year For Each Man

Four Fox Cities area men were fined for drunken driving Monday. The drivers license of each was revoked for one year.

Guilty pleas were entered Monday before Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane by Raymond W. Kleeman, 51, route 1, Berlin, and John R. Kryzanowski, 26, 115 N. Butler St., Fond du Lac. Kryzanowski was fined $206.85 because of previous offenses and Kleeman was fined $108.65.

Kryzanowski was arrested at 2:55 a.m. Sunday on State 175 in the Town of Black Wolf while asleep in his car. Kleeman was arrested at 10:56 p.m. Saturday in the Town of Winneconne for erratic driving.

William L. Pieper, 56, Clintonville, forfeited a $168.95 bond in Outagamie Municipal Court Monday for drunken driving.

Outagamie County police went to investigate an accident on State 187 about one mile north of County Trunk G in the Town of Maine and arrested Pieper. The car Pieper drove left the road, went onto the shoulder and into the ditch, hit a fence and knocked over a power pole, police said.

Pieper tested .19 on the drunkometer. A test of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Noel Booth, 62, Clintonville, was fined $100 in Clintonville Monday before Justice Frank Sinkewicz. Booth was arrested by the Clintonville police Saturday evening.

Law Bans Use of Parking Lights For Headlights

MADISON (AP) — The use of parking lights as a substitute for automobile headlights is banned under terms of a bill signed into law today by Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

The governor said safety studies have shown that parking lights, which are of low power and are usually not close to the ground, than headlights often cannot be seen at dusk.

Goldberg Says Hoffa's Role Exaggerated

Labor Secretary Claims Teamsters' Figures to be False

Chicago Daily News Service

'CHICAGO — James R. Hoffa, Teamster president, exaggerates his ability and intentions as a labor leader, and the size of his union, labor Sec. Arthur J. Goldberg charged here.

Goldberg emphasized that "Hoffa leadership" did not measure up to ethical standards of the labor movement when the Teamsters were expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 on charges of being corrupt.

Goldberg Adds

"I have not changed my mind," added Goldberg, who at that time was counsel for the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee that called for the Teamsters' expulsion.

Goldberg spoke here yesterday before the convention of the AFL-CIO Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers. Goldberg said Hoffa's claims that the Teamsters have 1,700,000 members are false.

The cabinet officer said Teamster figures filed under oath in the Labor Department show that the Teamsters had an average of more than 1,500,000 members under Hoffa's discredited predecessor, Dave Beck.

Figures Listed

Goldberg said the highest average for a year since Hoffa became president in 1957 has been 1,416,000 members, according to reports filed with the Labor Department.

"The real truth is that Hoffa does not enjoy the great support he would have us believe," continued Goldberg. "Neither is the Sank County Patrolman Fred Bayer pulled up. He radioed for help and two other cars joined the chase for the fleeing car, which reached speeds up to 112 miles per hour. The car went into a ditch and Nickel was thrown out.

Edward Conrad, 55, Antigo, received a deep cut on his left wrist at 1:45 a.m. today when he fell on a bottle at the Holiday Inn swimming pool.

It's a Catalpa 'Mysterios' Tree Club Gives Dues to Charity

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—The Aurora chapter of the American Red Cross received a letter that radiated the warmth of a child's heart.

"We are a group of children who have formed a club," it read. "We have been collecting dues and now have $1.07 in our treasury. We are sending the $1.07 to you, to help the poor people of the world."

"Yours truly, "Lorraine Smith and members "The Mysterios (sic) Tree Club."

President Is 9

Lorraine Smith—she's 9, president and very businesslike—told a reporter Monday that the club was founded underneath a tree in the yard of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Smith.

They decided to call it the Mysterios Tree Club because they were not sure what kind of tree sheltered them from the summer sun.

The six members, ranging in age from 5 to 10, pay dues of "not less than two cents a day but as much more as they like."

Helps People

"We decided what to do with our money," Lorraine said. "Red Cross needs money because it helps people all over the world."

The letter prompted Edward Siebert, 1961 Aurora fund chairman of the Red Cross, to present a merit award to the club.

Lorraine reported the meetings still are being held.

"We first collect the dues," she said. "Then a story, then play some games, then coloring."

The members also have solved the mystery of the tree.

"My mother," Lorraine said, "told me."

ment for three years, was the father of a 6-month-old son.

Held in a hospital in Madison was Richard Nickel, 32, of Prospect Heights, Ill. He had leg fractures caused either by the crash of the get-away car or by police bullets fired from a roadblock at the trio's car. Police said he refused to talk.

Authorities said a wallet found in the wrecked car carried the identification of William J. Webster, 33, also of the Chicago area. The Federal Bureau of Investigation said the third member of the trio was George Kristovich, also in his 30s, a known companion of the other two.

A fugitive warrant was issued for Nickel. Both he and Webster are wanted in McHenry County, Ill., for a $25,000 fur burglary last January.

The search was supported by officers from at least a half dozen counties and was spread over three counties, Sauk, Juneau and Columbia. At its peak strength Monday, the posse numbered about 150 uniformed men, including National Guard members who had volunteered, kept up the search and road block during the night.

Mobile Headquarters

The hunt was being directed by Sauk County Undersheriff Michael Spencer and Juneau County Sheriff Jack Ripley. They established headquarters in a mobile communications unit parked near an abandoned creamery at Lyndon Station in adjoining Juneau County.

Every car passing through the area was stopped, and sometimes they were backed up 40 deep on busy Highway 12-16. All trains were halted including one carrying a carnival which had just completed an engagement at the Wisconsin State Fair in Milwaukee.

Aerial Search

Three helicopters and three airplanes were in the air Monday and trained police dogs from Madison and Eau Claire searched on the ground.

A Sioux Indian who is an expert tracker, Roger Little-Eagle, 38, of Wisconsin Dells, also joined the posse.

After Jantz and Kohl were shot, Fred Bayer pulled up. He radioed for help and two other cars joined the chase for the fleeing car, which reached speeds up to 112 miles per hour. The car went into a ditch and Nickel was thrown out.

Football Spectators Will Enjoy Season In Colorful, Vibrant and Casual Fashions

Fashions for the fast-approaching football season were modeled for diners at Alex's Supper club Monday evening. The extra treat for early-in-the-week diners will be a monthly event at the club, planned for the third Monday of every month. Fashions will be keyed to that month.

Gertrude's Town Shop of Oshkosh presented last night's show and will also put on the future fashion parades.

Modeling the attractive and casual, as well as elegant and chic styles were Miss Mary Bartosic and Mrs. Alan Dietrich of Oshkosh and Mrs. John Dutcher of Appleton.

Mary Bartosic Winds her way through the dining room modeling a grape plaid skirt topped with a dyed-to-match grape sweater. Fashions were keyed to the approaching football season.

Miss Jean Davis inspects the fabric in the Italian "Heatherton" two-piece knit in black worn by Mrs. Alan Dietrich for last night's fashion show. The attractive hat is of gold and turquoise. At left, Mary Bartosic is all set for the cool weather ahead in her wedgewood blue iridescent leather coat with a Cerulean mink collar.

Mrs. John Dutcher shows diners at Alex's Supper Club her tobacco brown and black two-piece knit. A cocoa, brown and black feather hat completes the ensemble. Below, Mrs. Dutcher, this time in a soft suede three-quarter jacket, stops to chat with Mrs. Alan Dietrich who is wearing a red wool knit with the popular cardigan jacket. The costume look is achieved by a black velvet chapeau. Gertrude's Town Shop of Oshkosh presented the fashion parade.

Chanel, Lanvin Have Own War

PARIS — Chanel and Lanvin, who've been dressing the best dressed women in the world for almost two generations, are in a permanent state of war against each other.

The last flare-up of this chronic state of dissension took place at the time of the fall and winter collections last month.

Chanel, who doesn't belong to the Couturiers' Union, is free to choose the date of her opening. She usually waits until she knows the date of Lanvin's premiere and schedules hers for that very day and almost that very hour.

Newsmen and buyers flock to Chanel instead of attending Lanvin because Chanel allows them to take pictures and make drawings of her models. Lanvin, tied up by union regulations, has a strict ban on reproductions.

THE FLEXIBLE BUFFET DECOR

We are planning to give a buffet dinner for about twenty of our friends. After getting their plates and food they will use card tables and snack tables for eating. I will have some kind of salad. Must salad plates be provided?

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

I advise against having salad plates or even individual bowls in your case. I suggest that you let your guests put their salad on the dinner plates along with everything else. There wouldn't be enough space for these extra plates on your snack tables and they would even crowd the card tables. They would make extra work and would also cause clutter. Even if your party should be formal in dress, there is much leeway in serving buffet style as there are no specific rules for serving or seating. But if, for example, you engage professional help for a buffet party and your guests are seated at a regular dining table of ample size after they have filled their plates from another table, then salad plates might be considered. If so, a hostess would wish to set the dining table including the flat silver and napkins. This would ease the load of carrying a filled dinner plate and salad plate to the table which takes two hands.

Roll Case For Silver

Roll-up cases for sterling silverware can be easily made of a specially treated tarnish-preventing cloth which can be found in the notions sections of department stores. This case will hold eight of any place setting pieces.

You'll need one piece of tarnish-preventing cloth 18 inches by 13 1/4 inches, 2 yards of bias tape, trim as suggested if desired.

Bind one 1 1/4-inch edge of cloth. This is the lower edge of the case. Now, fold this bound edge up five inches to form a pocket and pin.

Mark off pocket into eight equal sections for individual silver pieces, as shown in the diagram.

8-21 Barker

Generally plain, you might enjoy giving yours an unusual touch. Let the binding on the case be the trimming accent. Use solid colored bias tape in a contrasting color or one of the floral prints, stripes or gingham pin checks.

For a special touch, personalize each case with a monogram. If you don't wish to embroider your monogram, cut it out in felt and just stitch it to the case.

If you keep spoons, knives, forks etc. in separate cases instead of grouping them together in place settings, applique a cut-out of the piece to each case.

Or, you can get a lovely effect by using a simple embroidery stitch, such as a feather stitch around the edge of the case, bordering the bias tape.

A set of these roll-up cases, by the way, makes a wonderful gift for friends who have sterling but do not own cases or silver chests. The cases are quite expensive to buy, and they will be welcomed and appreciated by someone who has sterling.

Navy Widower To Double Size of Family

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—A Navy widower with 10 children and a widow with eight of her own, who met a month ago, have set a wedding date of Sept. 9 in the Carmel Mission on the central California coast.

The couple are Francis Louis Beardsley, a Navy chief warrant officer, and Helen North, 31, of San Leandro. Beardsley and his children live in Carmel. He is stationed at the Navy postgraduate school in Monterey.

Mrs. North said a relative told her of Beardsley's loss. Her husband had died at about the same time. She began a correspondence with Beardsley which culminated in a dinner date about a month ago. He gave her a diamond ring a week later.

Mrs. North said all 18 children "think it's wonderful."

They range in age from her Teresa, 1, to his Michael, 17. Carpenters are doubling the size of Beardsley's Carmel home, which has only five rooms and three baths.

Basket Frames Need Scrubbing

Those basket frames used to carry heat-proof serving dishes from oven to table should be washed after the meal.

The method is to scrub the basket with a vegetable brush dipped into thick soap or detergent suds. Then hold it briefly under running water, shake off the excess, and hang it to dry.

Your Problems

Wife Upset Because Husband Wouldn't Carry Logs for Her

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We live in the mountains and it gets chilly here evenings during the summer months. Last night I asked my husband if he would go downstairs and bring up some logs so we could have a little fire in the fireplace. He told me to get the logs myself. The logs are quite heavy and I am expecting a baby in a couple months. My feelings were hurt and I told him so.

He claims pregnancy is not a sickness and that I am in better health than he is. He also said that too many women use pregnancy as an excuse to get out of doing things. He keeps bringing up his mother who had eight children and never saw the inside of a hospital. What can I say to him?—J

DEAR J: Pregnancy is not a disease but an expectant woman should not be hauling and lifting logs for the fireplace. Tell your husband if he wishes to be clad in on the dangers involved he can telephone your doctor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've been going with a man for three years, and I'm beginning to think that maybe what I considered co-incidental is something he has worked out on purpose. I keep a diary and this is the history:

My birthday 1960: He went to see his sister. (No gift)

Valentine's Day 1960: He forgot. Christmas 1960: He went to visit his mother. (No gift)

My birthday 1960: He lost everything in a poker game. Valentine's Day 1960: He forgot. Christmas 1960: Had to pay for his nephew's tonsil operation.

Valentine's Day 1961: He lost my gift on the bus. Birthday 1961: He's saving up for my Christmas gift.

I'd like to say a word to him, but I don't know what. Can you help me?—Dena

DEAR DENA: The word you're looking for is "goodbye."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister has four children. They range in age from five to 12. Every evening they push the portable television set into the dining room and the dinner hour is spent watching a Western shoot 'em up or some other chronicle of violence. No one can say a word while a show is on. They nudge and signal each other to pass things. You'd think they were a family of deaf mutes if you ever saw them in action.

When my sister and her family came to our house for dinner last Sunday they asked if they could push the TV set into the dining room. I said no. And then my sister and I got into an argument. She claims peace is worth a great deal, and when they watch TV at the table everyone is quiet. I disagreed with her but I couldn't put my objections into words very well. How do you feel about this?—Out-Shouted

DEAR OUT-SHOULDED: If she gave the kids a fistful of tranquillisers, that would quiet them too, but I certainly wouldn't recommend it.

Mealtime presents an ideal opportunity for family conversation. It's a time for expressing opinions, listening—and getting to know each other.

It's frightening that so many parents must rely on TV to achieve law and order in the

Bringing Up Baby.

IF a baby is slow to walk, a mother may feel it's a reflection on the intelligence of the child. Not so, say those in the know. Walking early has nothing to do with intelligence. Baby will walk when his muscles are ready, his spirit willing. Important to remember that walking is definitely related to a child's temperament. This placid baby is apt to be content to sit it out longer than a rarm-ee-go baby.

Starting gaiters will find wafaring easier if feet and ankles are supported by good shoes with wide, firm soles and pliable uppers.

Use Kitchen as Beauty Salon All Day Long

In the midst of a busy home-making schedule, it isn't always easy to take a break for beauty.

Few housewives can afford the luxury of an hour or two in a salon or even primping before the mirrors of their dressing tables. Yet, despite the demands of a chore-packed day, it is possible to pay an adequate amount of attention to appearance.

Here's the secret. Simply take your beauty preparations right along with you—right into the kitchen, where you spend most of your working day. If a jar of cold cream, for instance, is at hand, you're more apt to use it for a "quickie" facial while you're waiting for a cake to bake than you would if it required a jaunt upstairs. Besides, the kitchen actually is an ideal place for complexion care since the usual activities of cooking or laundering produce steam which, teamed with a nourishing cream spread on your face, gives desirable lubrication to the skin.

To make this catch-as-catch-can beauty program really work for you, it's a good idea to set aside a small area for an "auxiliary dressing table." A little shelf attached to the inside of a closet door, a box containing good grooming equipment tucked into a corner of a counter top or in a drawer is all you'll need in the way of space.

Fit the kitchen kit with its own set of accessories, bought especially for it, not borrowed from your more complete assortment in the bedroom or bath. Into it put powder, rouge, lipstick, tissues, a comb and a nail file for emergency nicks. It's a wise idea, since space will be at a premium, to choose smaller editions of your favorite beauty preparations.

Take Beauty Breaks

Since preparations will be so conveniently at hand, use them frequently when you come to a temporary lull in the days work. Smooth cream on your face before you start the dinner-leave it on to penetrate into and clean your pores while you stand cooking at the stove. Or, time permitting, sit at the kitchen table while the laundry is being done in your automatic washer and gently massage the cream into the areas around eyes, at the corners of your nose and mouth to erase lines which may be forming there.

The job over, whisk away traces of cream, apply powder base, dusting of powder, rouge and lipstick and you're ready to greet the family or friends when the door bell rings—without a hurried trip to the boudoir or bathroom.

BY ELIZABETH HILLIER

The effects of so many stand-out wallpapers today are dignified and impressive. None are more so than those which seem to add architectural features to a room as well as decoration. This type of paper creates very different atmosphere as it restyles flat wall surfaces—as in this room, where designer Philipp Yost's panels, dado and borders apply to walls with wallpaper paste.

Wall areas are easily fitted from the basic set of five strips, one with extra plain ground, six yards of dado and six of border.

and height for it can use the border in the manner of under-ceiling molding, as this room does, and here a panel strip also decorates overhead in an archway.

Is there a room at your house that does not look right, but you don't know why? Spot trouble with the help of Elizabeth Hillier's new booklet "What's Wrong With That Room?" It's a quick check-list of common room faults that tells how to correct them.

For your copy of the booklet, please 16 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Hillier at this newspaper.

The Ailing House Gilt Won't Need 2nd Paint Coat

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

PROTECTIVE COATING

Q: Does a gilt finish require a protective coating in order to retain its gloss?

A: No protective coating is required for real gilding. The liquid part of gilt paint is usually a type of varnish requiring no further finishing.

SLIDING SNOW

Q: Several years ago we bought a home with a sloping slate roof on which snow and ice collect, then slide off in huge falls when melting. We have recently rearranged the landscaping pattern, planting shrubbery closer to the house. How can we prevent these snow falls from the roof which may damage the plants?

A: Several types of snow guards are made for this purpose. Consult a good roofing contractor or a dealer in slate. Efficient gutters and downspouts can help tremendously.

PREVENTING FREEZE-UP

Q: Last fall we remodeled a lake cottage for permanent residence, including a new bathroom. During the winter, the water pipe, running from the well house to the basement (about 200 feet) froze twice. The last time the pipe froze, it was necessary to dig up around the pipe and install temporarily an electric wrap-around tape. What do you suggest can be done to eliminate freeze-up in the future?

A: You've pretty well answered the question yourself. Certainly covering the pipe in the critical area with heating wire should solve the problem. Although be prepared for increased electric bills. The only other cure is to sink the pipe down below the frost line.

DAMP DORMER CLOSETS

Q: I have a brick home about 1 1/2 years old with a dormer in the back for the closets in my bedrooms. The closets are very damp inside and the paint and woodwork are spoiling inside. Leaving the closets open to let heat in doesn't eliminate this problem. What can be done to keep the dormers dry?

A: Sounds as though dormer sides and roof were poorly insulated; do closets appear to be colder in winter or hotter in summer than the rest of the house? A fairly inexpensive device is available at many electric dealers and large housewares stores for keeping closets dry and well ventilated.

This is a rod-shaped, aluminum-covered electric heater which is plugged into any outlet; it gently warms, dries and circulates air within the closet.

RE-PAINTING RADIATORS

Q: We have several coats of paint on the radiators in the house into which we moved last winter. The paint is peeling in spots and we want to re-paint while the heat is off. Must we remove the present paint entirely, first?

A: Complete paint removal is unnecessary. Merely rub off all flaking areas, using steel wool and turpentine, which will also remove dirt and grease at the same time. Then re-paint using a good quality flat paint or radiator enamel.

WHITE SPOTS

Q: My basement floor is of concrete. About 20 years ago (floor is about 25 years old), I painted it with porch and deck enamel, after neutralizing the surface, as suggested by the paint manufacturer.

There are several places where a white, powdery substance keeps forming. Of course, the paint has long since peeled off these spots. I tried vinegar but it had no effect. Before repainting, I would like to treat the floor to eliminate the condition.

A: This is probably due to efflorescence. Treat the floor with a masonry and concrete etching and cleaning preparation available at many hardware dealers, following label instructions. Then apply a rubber base deck paint.

Your Money's Worth Painting Stealing Is Grandest Crime

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Not in memory has the world of art been hit by a series of thefts so daring, so audacious, so successful as those of the past few months in France and the United States. This is robbery in the grandest of manners.

This is crime on a scale which surely catches your imagination, makes you wonder "What are the forces behind the movement? Where can the thieves possibly unload masterpieces known the world over? Who's buying? How are they getting away with it?"

At Aix-en-Provence in southern France a week ago yesterday, thieves broke into an exhibition hall and stole eight paintings of the French post-impressionist master, Paul Cezanne. The value of the haul was unofficially estimated at $2 million-plus. Among the stolen canvases was Cezanne's world-famous "The card Players," on loan from the Louvre in Paris.

57 Stolen

On July 16 in Saint-Tropez on the French Riviera, thieves stole 57 masterpieces from the Annonciade Museum. Among these were paintings by Matisse, Bonnard, Utrillo, Derain, Dufy, Vuillard and Vlaminck — treasured names among the impressionist and post-impressionist masters.

There have been fabulous robberies in the last few months from private collections as well. At Saint-Paul-de-Vence on the Riviera, two burglaries involved 43 paintings with an estimated value of $800,000. All of these paintings have been retrieved for the collectors. In Pittsburgh in late July, 10 moderns valued at $300,000 to $400,000 were stolen from the home of a retired millionaire collector.

These are the thefts which have been reaching the front pages.

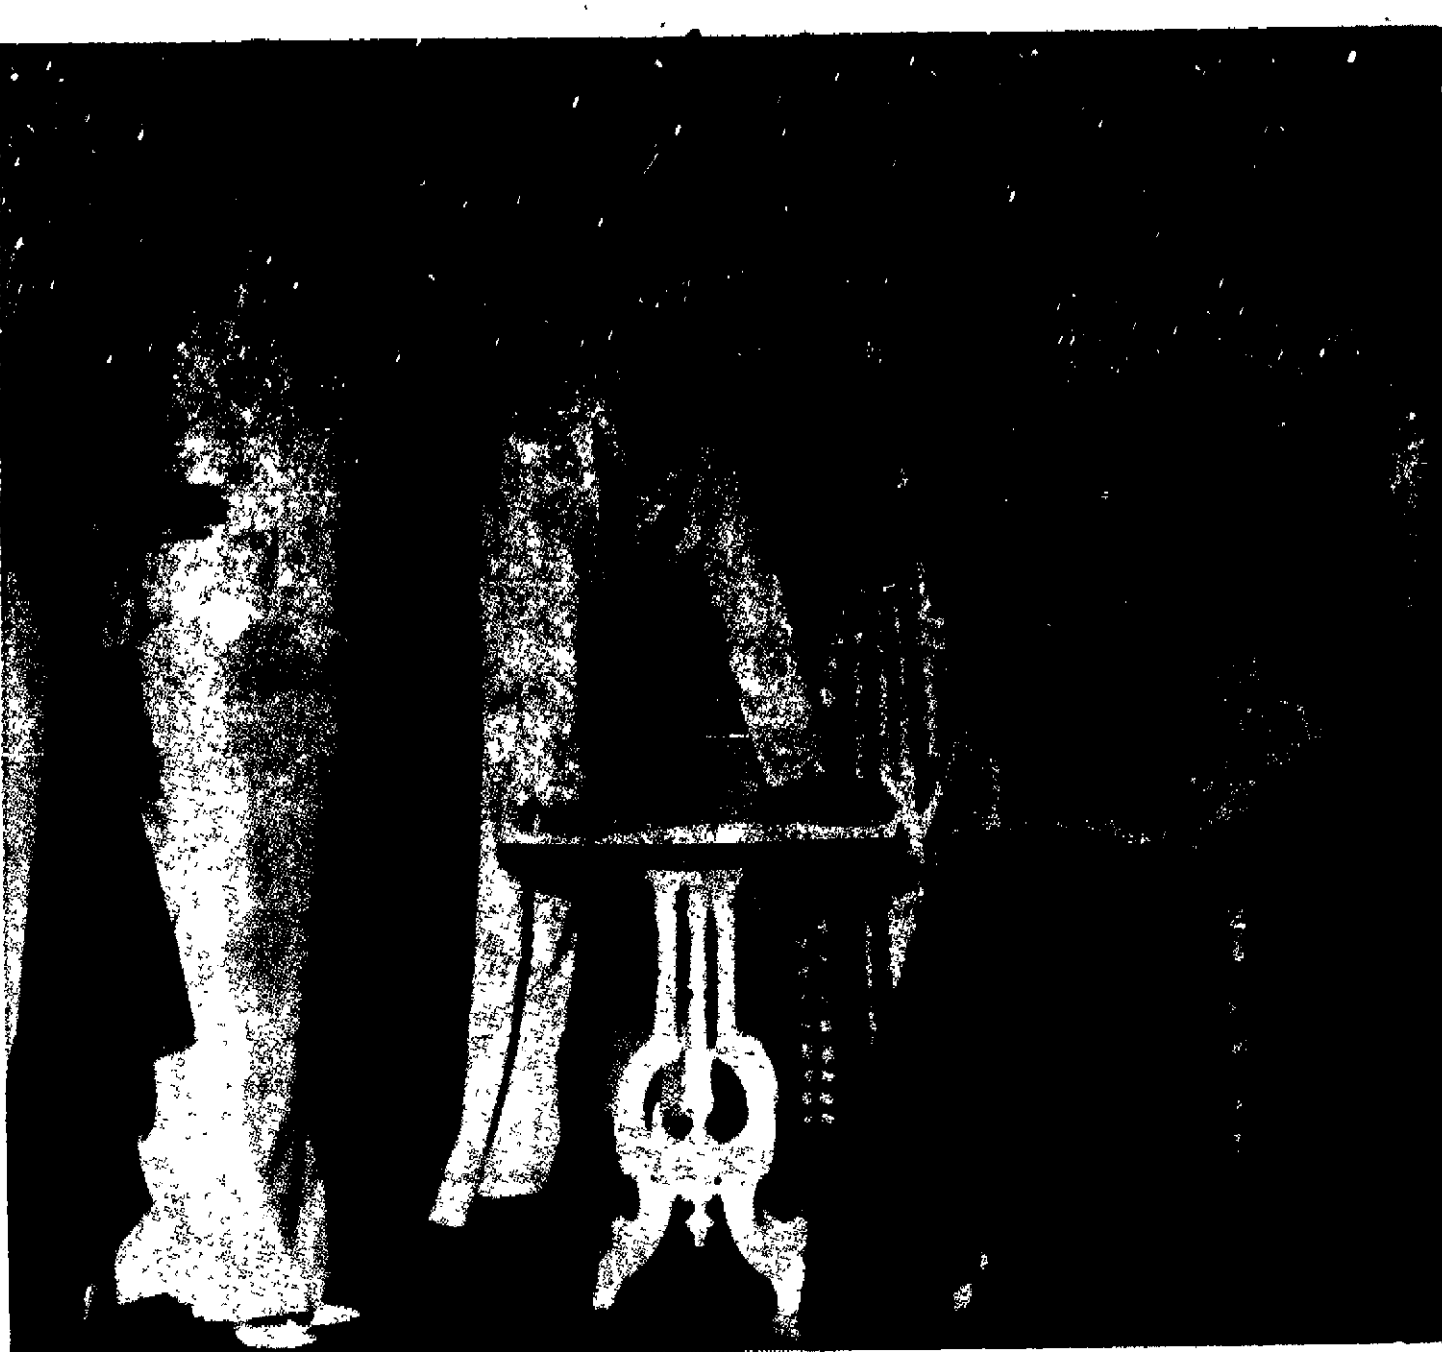

5 Children Adopted

By Chaplain and Wife

MC GUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N.J. (AP)—Capt. Carlton H. Mall, an army chaplain, and his wife, Elsie, arrived Monday with five children they adopted during their German tour of duty.

"Sort of like eating peanuts," said Mrs. Mall. "Once we got started we couldn't stop."

The children are Wolfgang, 24; John Arthur, 8; Marie, 7½; Carlton, 2; and Heidi Jane, 7 months.

Wolfgang, who fled East Germany five years ago, told news-men "I am really happy and I thank God that I have been adopted by such wonderful parents."

Asked about the United States, Wolfgang said "Yes, OK, I like it."

Restlessness Seen Timor Island May be Next Spot for Trouble

BY PETER ARNETT

TIMOR ISLAND (AP) — This wind-swept Pacific island shared by Portugal and Indonesia may become southeast Asia's next trouble spot.

The primitive Timorese are showing restlessness in the eastern part of the island controlled by the Portuguese. Many are fleeing over rocky mountains to the Indonesian sector where they are welcomed as blood-brothers.

Hard-riding Portuguese cavalry units patrol the mountain border in an attempt to cut off the flight of refugees.

The Portuguese, who colonized Timor four centuries ago, are showing a determination to hang on to the colony that they insist is an integral part of Portugal itself.

Repressive Measures

Refugees arriving in Atambua, the main border town on the Indonesian side of the island, say harsh repressive measures have been taken since an abortive uprising early in 1960.

Portuguese authorities tell visitors that the Timorese have no desire to change their "natural" way of life. And life for the natives has changed little over the centuries despite the faint fires of independence being fanned by a few intellectuals.

Few of the half-million natives can read or write and university education is nonexistent. They can rise only to the rank of corporal in the army or a clerk in government service. Compulsory forced labor is still in vogue.

The people, of Melanesian stock, have replaced their loincloths with shawls as the result of missionary influence. About 40,000 are Roman Catholic; the rest practice animism, a belief that all objects possess souls.

Small Quantities

The peasants raise small quantities of maize, potatoes, rubber, copra and coffee on the sparse land.

For the 8,000 Portuguese who govern the island social life is the

There have been many others on a lesser scale — and unreported. Why?

Boom in Art

The major force behind the thefts is the almost incredible art boom of the postwar period — a boom which dwarfs the climb in prices of stocks, real estate, other familiar investment mediums.

Frank Pick, the international currency expert, estimates that since 1945, the "blue chips" among the impressionist and post-impressionist paintings have soared 2,000 per cent and more!

Until 1958, the rise in prices of these canvases was running 50 to 100 per cent a year. Just in the first six months of 1961, prices in this group of paintings have jumped another 25-30 per cent.

"Nothing beats this stuff, nothing," says Pick. "And museums all over want the impressionist and post-impressionist leaders, are eagerly seeking them. Once a painting is bought by a museum, it 'disappears' from the market and the supply is limited."

International Trade

The boom explains the "why." But how are the thieves getting away with it?

Experts figure that within hours after a painting has been stolen, it has been flown out of the country by chartered plane and one thing is sure — the thieves and the buyers never are in the same country. A stolen masterpiece may pass through dozens of hands within a matter of weeks. An art thief can arrange to have the painting "fixed" — by a cut in size or a change in the signature, etc. — so that even the shrewdest dealer will hesitate to identify it as a stolen canvas. It's comparatively easy to do this with the moderns because most of them have done so many similar versions of a single work.

Who's Buying?

Who's buying? Where are the masterpieces being unloaded? This must be strictly guesswork but in a discussion of this a few weeks ago, "The Insider's Newsletter" guessed that many of the stolen works are disappearing behind the Iron Curtain, going to museums or "wealthy Communist leaders who prefer art to liquid assets, since big bank accounts are regarded with official disfavor."

South America is placed second only to the Iron Curtain countries and, adds the newsletter, "Wealthy Latin American collectors are eager for art, but for tax reasons, South American purchases rarely publicize their acquisitions, or send them to museums."

Each successful art theft apparently encourages more robberies — and with the art boom still going strong, the odds are the saga of the "disappearing masterpieces" has not yet run its course.

Both Partly Right Senators Disagree Heartily on Real Nature of Communist Threat

BY ROBERT S. BOYD

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — What is the real nature of the communist threat in America?

Is it external? Is it the nuclear bombs and missiles, the tanks and the troops of an aggressive Russia and China?

Or is it internal? Is it Communist spies and saboteurs, appeasement-minded liberals, creeping socialism and the welfare state?

These questions are at the bottom of a long-running debate that has flared in the U. S. senate this summer.

Both answers are partly right. The Communists are working two sides of the street.

Nikita Khrushchev wants to bury us, and he is willing both to bash us over the head with the shovel and to dig under our feet until we fall into our own grave.

The problem is one of emphasis — should we concentrate our defenses against our internal or external enemies?

Sen. J. William Fulbright, scholarly Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, thinks the chief peril comes from outside.

He is afraid we'll be so busy hunting for spies under the bed inars," "forums," and "conferences" aimed at alerting the public to the danger of Communism.

The seminars were "by no means representative of the president's announced strategy," Fulbright's memo said.

Eleven Cases

In at least 11 cases, the programs included speeches by "extremely radical right-wing speakers," condemning the foreign and domestic policies of the administration.

All the sessions had a common theme, Fulbright said, "that the primary, if not exclusive, danger to this country is internal Communist infiltration."

"Past and current international difficulties are often attributed to this, or ascribed to 'softness,' 'sellouts,' 'appeasements,' etc.," the memo said.

Speakers tended to "equate social legislation with socialism and the latter with communism."

"Much of the administration's domestic legislative program, including continuation of the graduated income tax, expansion of social security (particularly medical care), federal aid to education, etc., under this philosophy that we'll miss the real challenge in Berlin or Iran or Africa.

A fellow-southerner, Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, smells a greater menace here at home.

He warns that the Communists could take over the United States while the sentinels on the ramparts are looking the other way.

The Fulbright-Thurmond debate has been going on for nearly two months.

Began With Memo

It began with a memorandum Fulbright sent to the White House and the Defense Department the end of June, complaining about the political activities of certain "right-wing" military men.

He said some officers have taken part in a series of "seminars," "forums," and "confer-would be characterized as steps toward communism," Fulbright complained.

"This view of the Communist menace renders foreign aid, cultural exchanges, disarmament negotiations and other international programs as extremely wasteful if not actually subversive," he said.

Fulbright said he realizes the "great mass appeal" of this line of thinking during a time of crisis.

"It offers the simple solution, easily understood: scouring the devil within the body politic, or, in the extreme, looking out at the enemy."

Twilight Struggle

However, Fulbright said, we are in for what the President called "a long, twilight struggle, year in and year out," in which there are no quick, dramatic solutions.

"The American people have never really been tested in such a struggle," he said.

"It is quite possible that the principle problem of leadership will be, if it is not already, to restrain the desire of the people to hit the Communists with everything we've got."

Word of Fulbright's memorandum leaked out in mid-July.

Opened Attack

Thurmond opened his attack on July 21 with a statement labeling the memo a "dastardly attempt to intimidate the commanders of U.S. armed forces," and "a serious blow to the security of the United States."

He called the military the "real bastion of knowledge and understanding of the Communist threat — an understanding long since lacking in the White House, state department and other agencies."

Thurmond's statement made two key points.

"Communism is fundamentally socialism... and many of the domestic programs advocated and adopted in the United States fall clearly within the category of socialism."

2 U. S. defeats in the war against Communism "are the results of appeasement and a soft attitude by our own government."

Five Speeches

In a series of five blistering Senate speeches in the next 10 days, Thurmond repeated and elaborated these themes.

He quoted Khrushchev as saying, "We cannot expect the Americans to jump from capitalism to communism, but we can assist their elected leaders in giving Americans small doses of socialism until they suddenly awake to find they have communism."

He also quoted Lenin: "We shall not have to attack (the United States)... it will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands."

"The gains by Communism over false and panic-stricken mistrust of people and territories," Thurmond said, "stemmed not primarily from military actions of the Communists but from other methods: imperialism," Fulbright said.

SPEBSQSA Unit

Donates $100 to Retarded Fund

LITTLE CHUTE—The Kaukaunus-Little Chute SPEBSQSA chapter donated $100 to the Outagamie Citizen Committee for Retarded Children. The money was raised by a concert at Doyle Park.

No charge was made for the concert, but chapter members said refreshments on the grounds and proceeds from this sale went to the retarded children's fund.

Also appearing on the program were the Little Chute Community Band and the Kimbaris of Kimbarly.

of aggression... and indeed our own softness, naivete and appeasement of them."

Taken From Within

He said China, Poland, and Czechoslovakia all were taken over by Communists from within and warned:

"This very thing can happen here. There are dedicated Communists in our midst. Many persons are parroting the line of the Communists."

Aug. 2, Thurmond summed up his assault in a letter to South Carolina voters.

"The principle threat which Communism poses to our Country (is) the threat of internal subversion and welfare statism," he wrote.

"If Americans were fully informed, the welfare staters 'humbler' schemes would go out the window."

Wants Investigation

Finally, he called for a formal Senate investigation of the Fulbright memo.

Fulbright, who had kept silent during most of Thurmond's attack, rose to his defense Aug. 6.

He said it is "erroneous" to believe that the internal Communist menace is the primary problem of the cold war.

Thurmond's theory, he said, "greatly overestimates the influence of the wretched handful of Communists in the United States, and greatly underestimates the wisdom and good sense of the American people and their ability to identify and reject communist propaganda."

Wasting Billions?

"If this proposition were true," he added, "we would be wasting billions of dollars on the armed forces, and instead should be transferring funds to the FBI to fight internal subversion."

"It would be a tragic irony if in our own free society we were to neglect the overriding danger—that is the world-wide Sino-Soviet imperialism," Fulbright said.

Appleton Improvement Plan Delayed For Month

Board Chops Over $1 Million From List

More delays, deletion of the storm sewer program and a proposed exchange of the present down town fire station came about as aldermen discussed the city's 5-year capital improvement plan Monday.

The plan, in preparation for a year and a half, will not be adopted by the council for at least another month and if new delays occur, it may be two or three months before the plan comes up for final council vote.

The board of public works tried to whip the improvements program into final form. It chopped another $1,240,000 from the program, bringing the total down to $11,421,500.

Two Men Up For Menasha CD Director

Reorganization of Program Scheduled After Appointment

MENASHA—Two men are being considered by Mayor John Klein for the post of Civil Defense Director.

When the new director is appointed within 10 days Klein said, Menasha's Civil Defense program will be reorganized.

Klein, who has been acting as Civil Defense director since Thompson's resignation, said that a plan will be drawn up which will be run in cooperation with the Menasha public school system.

The mayor also revealed that he is awaiting word from the National Civil Defense Administration, which is about to install an air raid siren to the cost, making the annual expense for storm sewers under a bonding system $400,000.

Several Menasha residents have expressed concern over the city's program during recent days. Klein said, especially since the Berlin crisis has grown more acute.

Bomb Shelters Tax-Exempt

Governor Signs Measure Lifting Property Levies

MADISON (AP)—Nuclear bomb shelters are exempt from general property taxes under terms of a bill signed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson today.

The new law, introduced by Sen. Robert Dean, D - Wausau, specifically exempts home shelters or portions thereof built exclusively for the protection of human life and records in time of enemy attack.

Local civil defense authorities and the local assessor must approve the structure to make it eligible for the property tax exemption.

The governor vetoed another Senate measure that would have given county and town governments authority to enter into contracts for the removal of snow from private driveways.

Nelson said the attorney general had questioned the constitutionality of the measure, introduced by Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale.

"This bill, if enacted, would clearly put county and town governments into a field now being served by private enterprise and I am unaware of any instances where private contractors have been unable to perform this service satisfactorily," Nelson said.

Lakeshore School District Proposed at Sherwood Meeting

Some Residents Favor Appleton; Others Back Joining Stockbridge

SHERWOOD — Possibilities of forming a Lakeshore School District and offerings of Hilbert High School were told to about 35 people at Harrison School here Monday night.

Harrison District, which includes all but the northwest and southeast corners of Harrison Town, is caught in the middle as it prepares to fulfill the law that says all territory must be in a district with a high school by July 1, 1962.

The northern part of Harrison District is served by Kimberly and Kaukauna high schools, both of which send buses into Sherwood. The southern area is served by Hilbert High School, whose buses go to Sherwood, and by Stockbridge High School, which draws a few students from the southern end of the town. About a third of the high school students of Harrison District go to parochial schools.

Join Appleton

Some residents have asked that the western part of the district, including the Winnebago lakeshore west of North Shore Golf Club, be attached to Appleton.

Paul Dobias, Stockbridge High School principal, and Emil W. Kufahl, chairman of the steering committee that formulated the proposal, spoke for a lakeshore district.

The proposed district would include the shore west of U. S. 10 and State 114 to the south Calumet County line and would extend east to include parts of the towns of Woodville and Chilton and the community of Jericho in the Town of Appleton.

Property Owners May Appear Before Board of Review

Appleton property owners who object to their 1961 assessments may bring their complaints to the board of review Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m., in city hall.

The board of review meets in the committee room adjacent to the council chambers on the second floor.

City Assessor John Pierre held open house in his office so property owners could find out what their assessed valuations are. Anyone who wishes to object must fill out a form and file it with City Clerk Elden Broehm. The forms are available from him. The clerk sets up a time schedule when objectors may appear before the board.

Objectors are notified by mail if their requests for lower assessments were denied or granted.

86 Registered At Appleton From Red Star

28 Students to Stay At School in Newly Attached District

A total of 86 students from newly attached Red Star District have registered for Appleton public elementary and secondary schools. A few others also may enroll, Supt. Royce E. Kurtz said today.

The registration includes 20 youngsters in primary grades and 12 in fourth grade. Plans are to teach some fourth graders at Red Star and transport others, probably those living farthest from Red Star, to Jefferson along with the Red Star area fifth and sixth graders. This would leave a class of about 28 first to fourth graders for Mrs. Agnes Hilger to teach at the two-room kindergarten.

A half-day kindergarten, for which 17 children were registered, also will meet at Red Star. Two younger children will be tested to determine whether they are ready for kindergarten.

The registration from Red Star District includes 14 Appleton High School students, 13 Madison Junior High students, six sixth graders and four fifth graders.

Morgan School Principal Roland Nock is working out transportation routes for the school system.

Mrs. Catherine Symons, Foster School principal, will be supervising principal for Red Star. Charles Lynch, McKinley School principal, will take over Mrs. Symons' duties as principal of elementary classes at Madison school.

Neenah Boy Hit By Car Monday

OSHKOSH — Bruce Wohlrahe, 6, route 2, Neenah, received a skull fracture when he ran into a car driven by Yvonne F. Anderson, 19, Larsen, on State 150 in the Town of Menasha at 3:10 p.m. Monday.

The boy had been looking for a friend's dog and crossed the highway. Miss Anderson said she was heading west, noticed the children on the side of the road and began to slow down.

She said the boy darted out in front of her car. She applied her brakes and swerved to the left.

The boy was taken to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital in the Neenah ambulance and is in improved condition.

Training? Not Enough!

Appleton State Patrolman Assists in Birth of Baby

"For most officers it doesn't happen in a lifetime—for me it happens in the first two months," sighed rookie state patrolman Richard Manuel. Appleton.

Manuel was patrolling Highway 51 south of Portage Sunday morning when he was flagged down by an obviously distraught motorist. The man's wife was expecting any second.

Manuel placed the couple, along with the wife's mother, a nurse, and took off for Portage 11 miles away. They almost made it.

The patrolman's squad car is listed as place of birth for the healthy daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto L. Boggs of Morrisville. Manuel is thankful for one thing—the baby's grandmother was along to handle the delivery.

State patrolmen receive two hours of instruction in emergency childbirth from a physician during the 14-week recruit training period. "Not enough," states Manuel emphatically.

(Manuel was featured in a series of articles which ran recently in the Post-Crescent on state patrol training.)

Figures Differ

Works board members want explained the basis on which the educators estimate that two new elementary schools will cost $1 million each. The Public Expenditures Survey of Wisconsin, in cooperation with the Appleton Taxpayers Association, says that the schools should be built for $800,000 each.

The board completely deleted the storm sewer program from the plan, saying it should be put on the pay as you go basis, financed from the annual tax levy.

"It's foolish to borrow for something that is going to go on for many years as the city continues to expand and grow," was the consensus of the board. The improvement plan had called for $300,000 worth of storm sewers during each of the next four years, for a total of $1,200,000.

Bonding for an annual expense means paying too much interest, board members said. As a rule, thumb, interest adds one-third to the cost, making the annual expense for storm sewers under a bonding system $400,000.

The board reduced the amount scheduled to buy a new downtown fire station site from $90,000 to $50,000. The sale of the old fire station site is expected to bring in the other $40,000. The $90,000 figure for a site is only an estimate, it was pointed out.

Chamber Office

W. T. Bernhard, chairman of the Central Business District Planning Committee of the chamber of commerce, told the board that chamber members have suggested the possibility of acquiring the old fire station for a chamber of commerce building site.

"We would take the old fire station site and buy the city what ever site it wanted for a new fire station," Bernhard said. "Providing the chamber formally approved that suggestion."

Several board members said they thought the suggestion was a good one.

It Had Been a fire . . . But it wasn't. The Appleton Fire Department was merely moving its 1918 fire truck from fire Station 3 to Fire Station 1 this morning. The reserve rig didn't survive the trip. Something jammed in the carburetor, gas flowed out, the engine stopped. Normally the engine is used only to haul hoses to and from a fire. A fire department official said it won't be used as a stand-in after all.

American History, Politics Interest Visitors From France

By DICK LYNEIS
NEENAH—Life in America is perplexing when you are a single, 23 year old Frenchman. No more perplexing, however, than when you are a single, 23-year old Frenchman in Paris. The difference lies in customs, mostly, and in language partly.

Jean Claude Quint, Paris, and Jean Marie Heutin, Neuilly, Paris, President Charles de Gaulle with are business administration students who have one year remaining of their graduate studies at the Hautes Etudes Commerciales in Paris, the graduate school of business administration.

They have been in Neenah for the past month, and will remain until September working at the Kimberly-Clark Corp. in the market planning and research division.

Post-War History
America's most fascinating area is politics and history, the two feel especially when the history pertains to the period between the end of World War II and the present time.

Since both Jean Claude and Jean Marie are graduate students under sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce of Paris they had common ground for discussion Monday noon with John G. Konrad, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Neenah-Menasha.

During lunch with Konrad and a News-Record reporter Monday both expressed an opinion which they said is shared by many Frenchmen.

Jean Claude explained the opinion when he stated that President John Kennedy is well-liked in Europe but many people consider him very young to be President of the United States.

"Wisdom-Age"
"Not only that," he said "but to be the leader of the whole world." He opined that in most instances, the French coincide the word "wisdom" with age and experience.

Jean Claude pointed out instances in ordinary American life that are difficult for a Frenchman to accept. He stated that he was disappointed in American newspapers and in so far as American political cartoonists characterize French business administration.

"Our French political cartooning of their graduate studies at the Hautes Etudes Commerciales said "and so do the Italians, but in Paris, the graduate school of business administration.

Joint Meeting Held To Discuss Means of Improving Program

MENASHA — A good sound physical education program without the academic program suffering can be accomplished in the Menasha public schools. This was the consensus of the department of public instruction, the board of education and the school administration Monday night at Menasha High School.

Meeting with Orlo Miller, state supervisor of health, physical education and safety who visited the Menasha system last May 23-24, members of the school board and physical education department discussed with Miller his recommendations by letter to Mrs. Fern Gaertner, clerk of the Menasha board.

"Rigid Policy"
The position taken last year that a varsity coach at Menasha High School must have a physical education major was cited by board member Thomas Woodrow as wrong. "Our current policy is rigid inflexible and impractical and we should have a special meeting of the board to re-evaluate our position," Miller pointed out that Menasha High School is the only school of its size in the state which does not use academic teachers.

Miller's report pointed out the serious lack of intramural sports in the Menasha physical education program. He recommends intramural sports at the elementary level as well as junior and senior high school levels.

In the state department's recommendation that physical education classes should be taught in groups of 35 or 40 L. A. Wierbergen, high school principal, pointed out that this was impossible with the present physical education staff. Two more teachers would have to be added to provide three days of gym and two days of safety and health instruction with the present high school enrollment.

Kuehn Says Sales Tax Bill Good for State
WINNECONNE — Philip G. "Buzz" Kuehn, Republican governor candidate last year, told reporters here Monday night he hoped Gov. Nelson would not veto the sales tax bill recently passed by the state legislature. He was a featured guest at the Winnebago County Republican Party corn roast.

"I hope he does not veto it. The Republicans in the legislature went a very long way to offer him compromise measures to make it easier for him to sign," he said he would sign the sales tax bill "within five seconds" if he were governor and without the withholding feature in it. He called such a tax reform bill as "for the good of the state."

Partisan politics should play a secondary part. The bill contains so many massive reform measures that the sooner it becomes the law the better.

Kuehn who indicated he would be very active in the campaign next year even though he has not formally announced he will be a candidate for governor said he would recommend a straight 10 per cent cut in expenses if the sales tax is vetoed "so that we don't ask the people to cough up more taxes."

Commenting on a statement by the state Democratic chairman Patrick J. Lucey to the Winnebago Democratic Party corn roast here Saturday to the effect the sales tax bill was "an immoral act and a disgrace," Kuehn replied that the governor has more integrity and intelligence than the party chairman.

Chilton High School Enrollment to Boom

School-Age Population to Increase 137 for District in 4 Years

CHILTON—Chilton High School will have an enrollment boom within three years.

Seymour High Staff Filled

Appleton Woman Last Member of Faculty Added

SEYMOUR — The final vacancy on the Seymour Union High School faculty was filled Thursday night by Mrs. Penny Coffin, 23, Appleton. Mrs. Coffin will replace Mrs. William Millar, who resigned in July to join the Beaver Dam School system.

Mrs. Coffin received her bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin.

The new homemaking teacher was hired on a 10-month basis. She will join Mrs. Vivian Trembl in the department.

The school received a baby grand piano last week from Mrs. Genevieve Trace, who is moving to California. Mrs. Trace has sold her home in Seymour to Joe Stathas and many of the household articles. The piano, which was donated had been an item in music department requests for the past several years, Supt. Culver said. Each year he said, he found it necessary to cut the item at budget time.

Hearings Set Thursday on Escape Charge

Two Winnebago Prisoners Found After Taking 'Walk'

OSHKOSH — Hearings were set for 3 p.m. Thursday by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane in the case of two trusted prisoners who walked away Sunday from the Winnebago County Jail and of the woman who hid them from police.

Jack Schiedermayer, 32, 715 Lawe St., Kaukauna, and George Kaufman, 31, Milwaukee, walked away from the courthouse building sometime Sunday afternoon while supposedly on a work detail.

They were apprehended at 4:10 p.m. Monday by Oshkosh police at the home of Mrs. Dorothy L. Delfosse, 33, 1019 W. 11th Ave., Oshkosh. Police were notified of their possible presence there by Sheriff Richard T. Lowell.

No One Home?
Mrs. Delfosse told police no one was in the house except her children, but permitted police to make a search. Both men were found in the attic hiding under mattresses.

Kaufman had been sentenced July 3 to two consecutive terms of three months each for non-support, and Schiedermayer was sentenced July 21 to six months in jail for check forgery.

Kaufman pleaded innocent this morning before Judge Cane of escaping. His trial was set for 3 p.m. Thursday with bond of $1,000.

Hearing Set
A preliminary hearing regarding Schiedermayer's escape was set for 3 p.m. Thursday and his bond set at $2,500.

Since Kaufman's offense was only a misdemeanor, no charge can be brought under the law against Mrs. Delfosse for harboring him. Since Schiedermayer's offense of check forgery is a felony, the law permits her arrest for harboring a felon.

Preliminary hearings on the charge against Mrs. Delfosse was set for 3:30 p.m. Thursday. She was jailed in default of $2,500 bond.

Discuss New High School Districting

of Brothertown. It could cover more or less area, depending upon the people's wishes, the speakers said.

New High School
The district would operate elementary schools at Sherwood, Stockbridge and Brothertown and Stockbridge High School, which would be renamed. Later, if the voters of the district wanted, a new high school could be built at whatever the population center appeared to be.

Dobias said the Lakeshore District would give people with common interests "something you could call your own."

Stockbridge High School has 100 students, and expects to grow to an enrollment of 165 in four years and 180 in seven years, based on present boundaries, Dobias said. Inclusion of Harrison and Brothertown areas and greater development of the lakeshore area would further increase enrollment. Most Brothertown students go to Chilton and New Holstein high schools.

If the area from U.S. 10 to the south county line were included in the district, about three new rooms would be needed next year, Dobias said. A $200,000 wing could be built without raising the tax rate, it was said. The new district would be entitled to more state aid than is available with present organization.

Hilbert, with a high school capacity of 300 students, will have an enrollment of 190 next year, Principal Robert Sutter said. If the argas now served on tuition basis are attached to Hilbert district, enrollment will be 220 to 230 in five years, he said.

The Hilbert board doesn't want to push or sell its district, but wants to let the school sell itself, Sutter said. It welcomes areas that want to join it, Sutter said. Dissatisfied people can tear a district apart, he explained.

If Hilbert got Harrison School building, a modern structure with four classrooms, office and gymnasium-auditorium, the district would operate it if economically feasible, Sutter said.

Representatives of both Lakeshore and Hilbert districts spoke of advantages of small high schools over large ones. Either district would offer four years each of English, mathematics, sciences, social studies, home economics, industrial arts, and agriculture. French is taught at "quite an improvement since last year." The city was commended for its program. However, the program is only half as intensive as it should be, was the final conclusion.

A larger crew was recommended, so that at least one-fifth of the city's 20,500 elms might be trimmed each year. The present crew can trim only one-tenth of the trees in that period. Money for a spray program starting in 1962 was also a recommendation.

Dead Trees Removed
Many of the weak trees and all of the dead ones reported in Appleton have been removed, Fenton said. This year there is one more dead tree on the Lawrence College campus and nine weak ones.

"A tree sanitation program, suggested for Little Chute in the past, is now almost a requirement if the village is to keep ahead of the disease," the survey revealed. "The disease is slowly spreading north and could be here in a year or two." The same four-year pruning plan suggested for Kaukauna was suggested for Little Chute.

While there are only one dead and one elm tree among Little Chute's 475 elms, the need for pruning was reported as great in all areas. The village has a new Dutch Elm ordinance, but it has to be enforced, said Fenton.

Most Need Pruning
About three-fourths of the 1,150 trees in Kimberly need pruning, the survey indicated. That village was lauded for its sanitation and spray programs. "There is a fair amount of wilting, but no striking under the bark to indicate the presence of the disease. All wilting elms should be watched for more rapid wilting and surveyed again."

There were six weak trees and no dead ones, but some elm wood in the park was reported to be afflicted with active beetles.

New ID Cards Needed for CD

Former Volunteers Must Take Classes Under New Program

Previously issued Civil Defense identification cards will be null and void after the beginning of the new training program in September. Former CD volunteers will have to take part in the classes to renew their standing, according to Lee Penny, city-county CD director.

Qualifications for students include being of good moral character with no criminal record, between the ages of 22 and 55, and willing and able to perform police duties.

Students will also be required to sign a loyalty oath to the U.S. and vouchers for their equipment.

Previous CD training will be recognized in the classes, however, Penny said.

Want Meters On New Lot

Committee Expected To End Free Parking On Walnut Location

Free, all-day parking on Appleton's newest off-street lot on Walnut Street probably will end soon.

The public safety committee is expected to seek council approval for purchasing 12 dual-head meters to service the 24-stall lot.

This newest addition to off-street parking is included in an ordinance passed by the council March 1, which establishes revised meter rates. The rate for this lot, like most others, is five cents for one hour.

All-Day Parking
Construction of the lot, including bumper boards, was completed about six weeks ago. The bumper boards double as a low retaining wall.

good idea, but no positive indication was given if such a chamber offer would be accepted.

All mention of new water mains was deleted from the plan, totaling $205,000. The water department has its own improvements program, it was said, and water mains are financed by revenue bonds.

The board of public works wants Frank Okada, the city's auditor, to calculate how the proposed program will affect tax rates.

His calculations and the proposed program would be considered a tentative program, then sent to the council.

Any suggestions from aldermen at the council meeting would be taken into consideration when the board gives approval to the plan, then sends it back to the council for final approval.

The next approval of public works street and sanitation committee meeting is Aug. 29. A tentative plan could be presented to the council on Sept. 6, providing the board is willing to discuss the plan at one of its regular afternoon meetings.

No Meeting Sept. 5

There will be no board meeting on Sept. 5, because of the Labor Day holiday weekend. If a tentative program is approved at the board's Sept. 12 meeting, it could be presented to the council on Sept. 20.

If a tentative program were approved by the council on Sept. 6, a final plan could be adopted on Sept. 20. This is presupposing the council accepts the board of education requests and approves them.

Works board members in the past have been reluctant to discuss the capital improvements program unless all members were present. It is possible that the board will never discuss the program at its regular afternoon meetings, and another one or two special evening meetings will be called to try to have a full board to act on the plan.

Six Present
That is the reason Monday night's special meeting was called. Six of the eight board members were present. Six aldermen, who are not members of the board, were present. All aldermen had been invited.

Also present from the chamber of commerce was Giles Flanagan, assistant secretary.

A resolution by Ald. Donald Mueller, to put the relocation of the Meade Street-Wisconsin Avenue intersection in the capital improvements program, and to

'Treatment' Pays Off For Producer of Revue

Hermione Gingold to Appear
In New Show, 'Take Your Pick'

BY JINGO

When Broadway producers go out looking for money for their brainchildren one of the first things they do is throw a big party and invite moneyed people to hear an audition of the work.

The author reads, the composer plays and the prospective stars circulate and try to be influential. If everything goes well, the party becomes convivial and the money is raised.

Hermione Gingold, a Paar favorite, and Mary McCarty are slated to appear in a revue called "Take Your Pick." The producer tried to get something extra working for him and he held the audition at the home of a Beverly Hills by-notherapist.

So successful was the party — or the treatment — that music publisher Irving Mills purchased the revue's songs for publication.

It is reported the show will be of the type that takes everything to task. There are to be sketches about tourists, folksy television serials and effectations such as the names of perfumes.

Hermione has a song that insiders claim will be around for some time. It is "I Hate Six O'Clock." It's the lament of a lonely secretary passed by in the cocktail rush consoling herself at home.

Although there's a Statue of Liberty sequence in the show, opening night will find the troupe next month in Seattle. That's a lot of traveling and perhaps one night stands away from Broadway. Perhaps the company will bring along its hypnotherapist to work on the audiences.

"Mourning Becomes Electra" on its way to being filmed. Eugene O'Neill's widow sold the rights to Ely Landau. The sale ruined Geraldine Page's plans to revive it for the stage. Miss Page, never far from a good script when she wants to act, will work in a new play "The Sergeant, the Nun and Company" when next she lights up the sky with her brilliance.

There's a really big special TV show in the works. Milton Kat-Liberty sequence in the show, opening night will find the troupe next month in Seattle. That's a lot of traveling and perhaps one night stands away from Broadway. Perhaps the company will bring along its hypnotherapist to work on the audiences.

Saint's Life Recaptured In New Film

The story of St. Francis, a rich, young blade who renounces his wealth and founds a religious order, is recreated in the 20th Century Fox production, "Francis of Assisi," opening Wednesday at the Viking Theater.

The film takes Francis from his young days, when his life was geared to drink and the pursuit of women, to his conversion to the religious life. It shows his far-flung travels, his experience with the Crusaders in Egypt and finally his struggle with blindness while he was fighting to preserve the poverty vows of his order.

Set against the strife and turbulence of the early 13th century, the story was filmed on locations in Italy and Spain. The town of Assisi, native city of St. Francis, was used as a background for many of the scenes.

The picture stars Bradford Dill-

Hitchcock Airs Repeat About Priest

BY THE TV ABOUT

7:15 (channel 11) — Back in the '30 TV season, there was an epidemic of Eastern newspapermen as heavies on Westerns. The Dillman had one of the typical ones. This particular racial, played by Alexander Scourby, shows his mean streak by writing stories on the fastest gun. Whoever gets the publicity also gets challenged by some rookie trigger. When it's Chuck Connors' turn, the pattern changes.

7:30-8 (channel 5-4) — You'll be able to detect the fine, pudgy hand of Alfred Hitchcock on the Alfred Hitchcock Presents repeat. He directed this story of a priest (Claude Rains) and a horse player (Ed Gardner). A member of the Catholic clergy stood by during filming to insure good taste.

8:30 (channel 2) — Comedy Spotlight repeats a three-year-old GE Theater show which is notable mainly for the appearance of Suzanne Pleshette in a small role. Now a Broadway star, at this time, she was just beginning her career. She plays Ernie Kovacs' daughter in a labored comedy about an aging football hero.

8:30 (channel 5-4) — Thriller repeats a show about a poltergeist (that's playful ghost) in a Southern mansion. He throws things and otherwise acts up. Beverly man, Dolores Hart, Stuart Whitman, Edward Franz and Cecil Calloway. Thousands of extras were recruited to appear in the battle scenes. One sequence, requiring the presence of some 800 monks, was filmed with the assistance of Franciscan friars, who maintain a large monastery at Assisi.

Washburn plays a girl locked in an attic. Same trick effects heighten the suspense.

8:30-10 (channel 2) — Playhouse 90 repeats "Four Women in Black," one of its poorest efforts despite an impressive cast — Helen Hayes, Ralph Meeker, Katy Jurado and Janice Rule. It was one of the program's few filmed offerings which, despite its dramatic pace, turned out to be another Western about grooving the desert.

9:30 (channel 11) — Alcoa Presents takes two disconnected incidents and weaves them into a disconnected repeat. One, in 1917, has a man inventing a pill which turns water into fuel. The other, in 1922, is a gravity affair and is demonstrated by daily rock showers.

9:30 (channel 5-4) — The Pines Special series, repeating daytime programs at night, at least gives evening viewers something new to see. "Mother and Daughter," tonight's documentary-drama, in a way is reminiscent of several Armstrong Circle Theater shows that have dealt with the parent-child relationship. # Actor Ducks Wrong Way During Scene; 27 Stitches Needed

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Television actor Lee Marvin ducked the wrong way in a fight scene Tuesday night and got punched in the face, opening a wound that required 27 stitches.

Actor Marvin Milner threw the punch while filming a scene for television show "Route 66" in a restaurant in the city's Mt. Washington section.

A plastic surgeon at Allegheny General Hospital treated Marvin, putting in four inner stitches and 23 on the surface. Milner was treated for a cut finger. Both men were released.

Manners said the accident may not seriously affect the filming of the rest of the show.

"We are hoping to utilize one side of Marvin's face. We may be able to take some long shots and use tricky lighting."

Foxes Edge Cedar Rapids With 2-Out Rally in Ninth

KC-Xavier Booster Tilt Set Tonight

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Shrugging off the effects of two virtually sleepless nights and an early 4-run deficit, the resilient Fox Cities Foxes scored a 5-4 homecoming victory over Cedar Rapids at Goodland Field Monday.

"Photi" Anthony, a 3-season Foxes favorite, capped a 3-out rally in the ninth inning with an infield hit that gave John Ellen the pitching decision over Bruce Brubaker.

Redlegs Play 8 Games In 6 Days Against Giants and Dodgers

O'Malley Denies That Walt Alston's Job Is in Jeopardy

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Herculean eight-game program over a six-day stretch is the next test for the Cincinnati Reds, leading the National League by three games after a hectic period of playing ring-around-the-rosie for first place with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Reds, who had fallen 2½ games back last week in their season-long battle with the Dodgers for the top rung, begin their crucial period at home tonight with a doubleheader against the third-place San Francisco Giants.

The sizzling Giants, who have won 10 of their last 12, will stay at Crosley Field for games Wednesday and Thursday, then the Dodgers will move in for a showdown four-game set in the final meeting of the year between the pennant contenders.

Foxes' Protest Is Upheld

Hoscheit Orders Tilt With Demons to Be Resumed in Seventh

Three-I League President Vern Hoscheit has upheld a protest of the Fox Cities Foxes and has ordered their Aug. 16 game with Des Moines to be resumed from the point of protest.

The Foxes protested when Umpire Jack Collins called a balk on pitcher Jim Dunlap for delaying the game. The rules call for the pitcher to deliver the ball within 20 seconds when there are no base-runners. At the time the balk was called, a runner occupied second base. The game will resume on Des Moines' final series at Goodland Field, Aug. 31-Sept. 2. Des Moines holds a 4-0 lead, with two out in the seventh inning.

Chicago — Freddy Magg, 179, New York, and Chuck Garrett, 179, Chicago, drew, 10. San Francisco — Roger Rischer, 195, Oakland, Calif., outpointed Kirk Barrow, 186, Spokane, Wash., 10.

Bid for Berth In FRVL's Final Playoff

Little Chute-Kimberly and the Menasha Macs will clash at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Kimberly Ball Park for the second-round title in the Fox River Valley Baseball League.

Both teams finished the second rounds with identical 6-1 records. Winner of the playoff will open a best-of-3 series with first round champion Freedom Sunday.

The Macs are defending league titlists and need a victory over the Papermakers to secure their second straight crown. Menasha also tied for the first round championship and Freedom took a victory in that playoff.

Menasha warmed up for the playoff by sweeping the championship of the Semi-Pro Tournament at the Menasha Ball Park over the weekend. LCK was eliminated in the first round by Fond du Lac.

In previous meetings this season, the two teams have split a pair. The Macs beat the Papermakers, 11-4, at Little Chute and LCK came back to post a 6-1 win over Menasha on its home diamond.

Jim Meyer, fast-balling right-hander is the likely mound choice for Menasha. Faye Mehlberg or Bob Schmidt will pitch for the Papermakers.

Tigers, Reds Exceed 1960 Gate Totals All Other Clubs Have Decreased Attendance in '61

NEW YORK (AP)—Surprisingly good showings in the baseball pennant races by the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds have boosted their home attendances this season. Both have already surpassed their 1960 totals.

The Tigers have played before 1,340,930 customers and the Reds to 762,520. Last season, Detroit's total was 1,167,669 and Cincinnati's 663,486.

Through Sunday's games, the Tigers showed an increase of 245,000 and the Reds were up 235,000. All of the other teams were under last year's figures. Those showing the largest deficits were the Chicago White Sox (441,000), Los Angeles Dodgers (410,000), San Francisco (310,000), Pittsburgh (320,000) and Milwaukee (314,000).

The major leagues drew 1,076,166 paid last week, lifting the 1961 total to 15,013,116—seven per cent under last year.

Detroit — Henry Hank, 164%, Detroit, defeated Frank Suzuzina, Germany, 165, 10.

Warren Spahn, the Milwaukee Braves' 40-year-old left hander who won his 302nd game Sunday, signs autographs at Boston's Fenway Park Monday night before the Braves-Red Sox exhibition game. Spahn was the recipient of an ear-splitting standing ovation from the crowd before the Jimmy Fund Game, a benefit for cancer research in children. ## Physical Conditioning Key Factor in Packer Success

Lombardi's Club Also Shows Marked Distaste for Losing

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Physical conditioning. . . The distaste for losing. These are tremendous factors in the daily lives of the Packers.

The Packers practiced for one hour and 15 minutes Monday—offense, defense, fundamentals, signal drills, passes, runs, the works. It's all business; nobody rests or relaxes, and that includes the few on the sidelines who are subject to the sudden call.

When the "over here" period of drills was finished, Coach Vince Lombardi yelled "over here." That meant sprints—rugged ones, 20, 30 and 40 yards.

Perhaps the sprinting came a bit harder Monday because the Packers had had a full day off—Sunday.

After the sprints, Lombardi called for the relay runs between the offense and defense. The athletes run over a 50-yard course. This is fun, judging by the cheering and glee, but it's also conditioning.

Each athlete sprints 50 yards and then hands off to a teammate. The offense and defense players run neck and neck until a hand-off was dropped by the defense and the offensive men finally won. It would have been close.

Distaste for losing? It's no pleasure to lose—even in this sprinting relay. Lombardi ordered a full lap for the losing defensive.

A distance of about 200 yards, with the goal posts as the lap corners.

Conditioning Pays Off
Physical conditioning and distaste for losing have paid off for the Packers.

The Bays haven't been plagued by injuries since Lombardi started to stretch Green Bay muscles in '59 and the record (27 wins and 12 losses over-all) would indicate that Lombardi has implanted a certain distaste for losing.

While the Packers are presently in the state of preparation for Western Division championship, they've been going full-tilt in their training tests. Their good physical condition has helped reduce the injury toll and, what's more, they maintained that winning touch.

Approach Phase 3
Now, the Packers approach phase 3 of their 5-point Non-League program — the Bears in the 12th annual Shrine Classic in Milwaukee County Stadium Saturday night.

The game marks the Packers' first of two straight showings in Wisconsin as Western Division champs. They meet the Giants in the Bishop's charities game in Green Bay Labor Day night, then close out pre-season action against the Redskins in Columbus, Ga., Sept. 9.

The Bears are in the process of change and Packer scout Wally Cline, who watched the Chicagoans beat the Redskins Saturday night, says the two major switches have Bill Wade at quarterback and Charlie Bivins, a 212-pound halfback at offense after a season on defense. Bivins ran wild against the Redskins, getting 113 yards in eight carries.

Wade, in two non-league games, has completed 39 out of 65 passes for 405 yards, four touchdowns. Jim Dooley is his top receiver, with 12 catches for 159 yards.

De la Torre, Veech, Billy Sixty, Jr., Lead State Open With Cards of 69

RACINE (AP)—A trio of hard-hitting Milwaukee pros, who posted 3-under par 68s, shared the lead today as the 1961 Wisconsin Open Golf Tournament moved into the second round.

Bunched at the top of the record field of 193 professionals and amateurs were Billy Sixty Jr., and Manuel de la Torre and Tommy Veech who each wore the open crown three times.

The Milwaukeeans held a one stroke edge over amateur Marty Gharitty of Shawano, who is the captain-elect of the University of Wisconsin golf team, and professional Lou Warobick of Manitowish.

Another 18-hole round over the Meadowbrook Country Club course was on tap for today. At the close of the round the field was to be cut to the low 90 scorers and ties for Wednesday's round. The field will be trimmed to the low 80s and ties for the final 18 on Thursday.

fresh wind as the 72-hole medal play meet opened. Meadowbrook, a 36-36-72 layout at 6,398 yards, is narrow and tight on the front nine. The course stretches out on the way back, giving the long ball hitters a chance to reach out.

But Veech, one of the meet's longest hitters, shot his best on the front nine, going four under par. He dropped to five under by posting a birdie on the 10th. He lost his big lead with bogeys on the 15th and 17th. He finished with a card 32-37.

De la Torre lost a chance to take the lead by himself when he missed a six-foot putt on the 18th green. His rounds were 23 and 36.

Sixty, who carded a 35 and 34, had the help of seven birdies. The 26-year-old defending champion, Tom Puls of Milwaukee, also posted one of the 12 sub-par rounds turned in. After going five under by the 10th hole he finished with a 33-38.

Sharing 71 with Puls were 36; Milwaukee pro Randy Quick, 34-37; Milwaukee pro Clayton Lindquist, the open runner last year who had 36-37; Salem professional John Wagner, 37-34, and Oconomowoc amateur Jim McGinley, 35-36.

Steve Bull, pro at the host club, matched par at 72 as did Milwaukee amateur Archie Dadian. One-over-par 73s were posted

Braves Defeat Red Sox, Duel Bucs Tonight

Spahn Honored At Cancer Research Exhibition Tilt

BOSTON (AP) — The Braves returned to Boston Monday night and Warren Spahn was the conquering hero. There was even a suggestion he run for governor.

The Braves were in town for a charity exhibition game with the Boston Red Sox. Milwaukee won 4-1.

Six times before the game began, left-hander Spahn, who won his 302nd major league victory on Sunday, was the recipient of a standing, ear-splitting ovation from the crowd, many of whom remembered him from the days when the Braves represented Boston in the National League.

One of the thunderous greetings came when Spahn walked across the field to meet blind, 18-year-old Jayne Henderson, a student at the Perkins Institute for the Sightless.

Thrilled at Meeting
The girl, too, was thrilled at the meeting.

As Spahn walked across the field, he commented: "Gee, this is wonderful. They sure love me here."

When someone suggested he ought to come back one day and run for governor, Spahn grinned and said, "Maybe you've got something there."

The 40-year-old Spahn also received a certificate of merit from Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston.

The game was for the Jimmy Fund — proceeds earmarked for cancer research in children—but the clash turned into a salute to Spahn.

The wonder of the Milwaukee mound staff replied by hurling the first inning of the game. The old master pitched perfectly. Spahn struck out Chuck Schilling, retired defending American League batting champion Pete Runnels on a grounder and fanned Carl Yastrzemski.

The Braves used seven pitchers. Lew Burdette followed Spahn to the mound and capped a four-run third inning by slamming a two-run single to right field.

Mathews Singles
Milwaukee landed on Boston's Helen Cisno as Frank Bolling was hit by a pitch, went to third on Eddie Mathews' single off the left field wall, and scored on Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly. Two more singles and an error loaded the bases before Burdette drove in the final Milwaukee runs.

Jim Magliarini's double off Burdette, who took the victory, was the only Sox hit until Frank Malzone beat out an infield single in the seventh. The Sox scored in the eighth against Johnny Antonelli as Pumpie Green tripled and Carroll Hardy hit a sacrifice fly.

The Braves returned to National League action tonight, meeting the Pirates in Joe Gibbon, 8-8. Buhl, 9-8, faces Pittsburgh, 8-8.

NBA Stars to Play Benefit for Stokes

Paralyzed Cager Has Come a Long Way in The Last 40 Months

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—The best in professional basketball tonight will help Jack Twyman keep another pledge to ailing Maurice Stokes.

Bob Cousy, Bill Russell, Walt Chamberlain, Dolph Schayes, Bob Pettit and many more will compete on a concrete, outdoor court in a Stokes benefit game. Its aim is to help raise money for continuing treatment of Stokes, former Cincinnati Royals star who was paralyzed with encephalitis—a brain ailment — 3½ years ago and still cannot walk.

Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics will coach the Eastern team and Paul Seymour of the St. Louis Hawks the West in the All-Star game, which was washed out Monday night by an all-day rain in the Catskills.

Pay Their Way

The coaches and the players, who paid their way here for the privilege of helping, figure it's the least they can do for the 6-7, one-time 250-pounder who by now probably would have ranked as one of the greats of basketball.

"They tell me about the weight he lost," said Carl Braun, former New York Knicks coach and now a backcourt player with the Celtics.

"I haven't seen him but it's hard to believe. If this hadn't happened, I think he and Elgin Baylor would be 1-2 as the greatest pound-for-pound players in the game."

Since he was stricken in the 1957-58 National Basketball Association season, Stokes has been a patient at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

Teammate Twyman, one of the top NBA scorers, has been his legal guardian and has masterminded the financial help that gives him the medical help he needs. This year, a benefit show in Stokes' hometown of Pittsburgh flopped.

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The ordinary fellows who miss a target now and then got their chance today as the 62nd Grand American Trapshoot moved into its second championship round.

Usually a handful of experts dominate the 16-yard firing in this world series of the clay target sport, but today's program called for class champions in which each marksman fires against those of similar ability.

The 200-target race is divided into five classes, each fixed by the averages on registered targets, and a champion is named in each.

Hailed by Darkness

The big barrage got under way Monday but a couple of the more important events were left unfinished as darkness halted shoot-

Eight state champions tied at 100 each in the Champion of champions race and three were still in the running after breaking an extra 100.

Still going for that crown were Ohmer W. Webb Sr., a Washington, D. C., left hander, Dan Orlich of Reno, Nev., former professional football player, and George Snellenberger of Angola, Ind.

Snellenberger's mother died while he was on the firing line and he was not expected back for today's shootoff.

George Burrus, 18-year-old Fort Collins, Colo., captain of the Sports Afield Junior All-America trapshoot team, and 13-year-old Britt Robinson of Tahoka, Tex., also were tangled in a shootoff for the junior champ of champs title. Each broke 100 straight in the regular event and 100 more in the shootoff, which continued today.

Mary Christopher of Cornwell Heights, Pa., defeated Mrs. Julie Deckert of Milwaukee 25-24 for the women's title after they had tied at 98 of 100. Mrs. Deckert missed her 100th target to allow Miss Christopher to tie.

Capt. Edward Koerschner, 2317 N. Clark, Appleton, a member of 95th Troop Carrier Squadron, 440th Troop Carrier Wing, Gen. Billy Mitchell Field, Milwaukee, participated in Exercise Swift Strike, the nation's largest peacetime field exercise. The operation, which combined U. S. army and air forces, ran from Aug. 6 to 20.

Wakeman holed out a 4-iron shot on the 155-yard 14th hole. Playing in his foursome were Menasha's Ken Crowell, Appleton's A. G. Sharp and St. Louis' Charley Henschel.

The only other North Shore ace this season was carded by Pro John Erickson.

M-M Homer Battle Could Affect American League Race

DETROIT (AP) — Supposing Roger Maris and-or Mickey Mantle should reach the 59-homer mark sometime next month in their assault on Babe Ruth's record of 60.

What'll be the effect on the American League pennant race? Can it backfire on the New York Yankees?

"I don't know, I can't be sure," said Manager Bob Scheffing, whose Detroit Tigers are chasing Maris, Mantle and the rest of the Yankees. "It's bound to bother them some. It may even hurt the Yankees but I can't say."

"Wouldn't it be something if both of them hit 65 and the Yankees finished second?"

Pressure has done funny things to players who've come close to the Babe's mark. Ask Hank Greenberg or Jimmy Foxx. Each missed the magic 60th homer by two. But neither was on a team scrambling for a pennant.

"I had Steve Binko out in the Coast League in '56 and he was trying to hit 60," Scheffing retorted. "He got to 55 and I'll bet he didn't hit another in his last 10 games. The club record was 56 and he didn't even reach that and we already had won the pennant."

"I can't predict how it will affect Maris and Mantle if they get near to Ruth, but let's face it, most of the recent home run champions haven't been on the team that's won the pennant," said Scheffing.

In the 33 seasons since Ruth established the big record, only nine champions or co-champions made it into the World Series.

Hoffa Trying To Get Control Over Locals

Cincinnati Union Quits Teamsters, Keeps Assets Safe

BY ROBERT M. LEWIN Chicago Daily News Service

CINCINNATI — James R. Hoffa is going to have a hard time getting his hands on the money and other assets of four locals that have quit his Teamsters Union here.

But he is trying. "We're in the red," James T. Luken, president of 2,300-member Local 98, Dairy Employees Union, said, with a smile.

Actually, Luken admitted, Local 98's assets total $380,000. But the assets and money are not in the Local's name. The assets of the members are in safekeeping. "We keep the treasury for the benefit of the members, not for Hoffa and his International Brotherhood of Teamsters," he said.

Secret Formula Luken would not disclose the "formula" by which he has placed the local's money and assets in the individual names of the Local's members as a way of keeping Hoffa's hands off them.

Luken said there is $3 million in a pension fund for Local 98 members.

"It has nothing to do with the Teamsters, and is for members of the Local only and is administered by three trustees representing the employers," he said.

Luken had promised pensioners and their members that the fund is protected, adding: "I wouldn't let that go down the drain."

Plans Suit Hoffa has sent Florian Bartosier, Teamsters' "house counsel" at their Washington headquarters, and David Previent, Milwaukee, attorney for the Central Conference of Teamsters and Hoffa's Ohio and a brother of James.

It is reported that the three officials and agents have moved into the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel on orders from Hoffa.

They are there to "keep the other Teamsters in line" and persuade, if possible, the disaffiliates to return to Hoffa's organization.

The editor of the Teamsters' monthly magazine, W Allan Biggs, has been brought in from Washington to supervise public relations. A handsome brunette, also is the stenographer.

"No Violence" Gibbons said there would be no violence.

Police Chief Stanley R. Schroedel said:

"We are adequately prepared to meet any situation that may arise."

Thomas A. Luken, newly-appointed First Assistant U. S. Attorney for the Southern District of Ohio and a brother of James, said:

"The federal government will see that the constitutional rights of all members of the union are guaranteed."

Hoffa is to come here to speak to the Teamsters Sunday.

Shamrock '9' Takes Lead in Softball Loop

KAUKAUNA — Shamrock Bar took a one-half game lead in the City Softball League, winning an 8-5 make-up tilt from the Eagles Saturday night.

The Irish now have an 8-1 record while Badger Northland has a 7-1 mark. In a second make-up tilt, Sherry Barbers moved into fourth place tie with Duane's Bar by taking a 7-6 decision from Duane's.

Badger Northland rolled to a 9-1 win over Peters' Bar Friday night behind the 2-hit pitching of Marcel Lamers.

The winners had six hits, but were aided by five walks and five errors. Giddings and Lewis upset Sherry Barbers, 7-4.

Kimberly 'Stars Break Even in Hortonville Tilts

KIMBERLY — All-stars of the PeeWee League and Senior League clashed with teams from Hortonville last week, the teams breaking even in the series.

Hortonville PeeWees scored a 19-6 win at Hortonville with Gene Garriot the victor. J. Fanning led Hortonville with four hits in four trips including a homer.

In the second game, Kimberly took a 5-0 win as Gordy Smith hurled a 1-hitter. Smith doubled in two runs.

The Hortonville Seniors took a 3-1 decision at Hortonville with Huebner taking the win and Jim VandenBoogaard the loss. In the return match at Kimberly, the host team took a 5-1 win with VandenBoogaard taking the win and Huebner charged with the defeat.

Teachers Told Social Importance of Paper

55 at Trees for Tomorrow Camp Take Tour Of Rhinelander Paper Co., Hear Speakers

BY KATHERINE ANDREWS
Post-Crescent News Service

RHINELANDER — Wisconsin's industrial health is closely tied to the paper industry just as the social health and progress of the world is tied to availability and usefulness of paper, 55 men and women attending a combined workshop for social studies and science teachers at Trees for Tomorrow Camp in Eagle River were told here Monday afternoon.

W. J. Davis, vice president and general manager of the Rhinelander Paper Co., made the comment as he talked on subject "Social and Economic Aspects of Paper Making."

Davis pointed out that since there is an unusually high capital investment required to produce paper, and highly competitive market conditions caused by substantial production capacity, labor costs are high and the cost of materials and freight continue to climb. All of this makes for a relatively low profit margin and low return on investment for the paper industry, he said.

First in Papermaking

However, among the 42 paper-making states, Wisconsin is first in production of paper (3.13 million tons per year) and first in sales ($850 million per year) and first in taxes paid ($105 million per year to the state and federal governments).

"The social significance of paper is found in its effect upon people, individually or collectively," Davis declared. "It certainly relates to a nation and its standard of living. And it clearly relates to the educational level of a people or nation."

"The most impressive way to consider the social aspect of paper is to try to visualize what life would be like with our paper today. None of us fully appreciate the impact of paper in all its forms, nor the effect of paper upon society. It is too much with us and it is taken for granted."

Jesse Holders, manager of the Lake States Yeast and Chemical Division of St. Regis Paper Co., parent concern of Ripco, followed Davis as a speaker and told how the paper industry is vitally concerned with more efficient utilization of the by-products of paper making.

Holderby told about the production of nutritional yeast from wood sugars, explaining how the yeast is cultivated, harvested and processed in the Rhinelander plant, and at Charrin Paper Products Co., Green Bay.

Dwindling Resources

Earlier the group heard David W. Carley, director of the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development, declared that the most critical problem of this century is the increasing number of people on a dwindling resource base. Water is the most critical of the natural resource problems, but the Wisconsin legislature has not acted on comprehensive water legislation during the last 10 years, Carley stated.

Prof. Douglas Marshall, chairman of the department of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, told the teachers to educate youngsters and their parents to the fact that if coming generations are to enjoy the standard of living people now enjoy they should be equipped with a knowledge of wise resource management. "Conservation is not hoarding but wise use," he declared.

Businessmen Begin to Show Slight Optimism

Employment Men in Key States Express Hope for Future

New notes of optimism are creeping into the employment picture, Business Week reports. A survey by the magazine shows employment officials in key states expressing moderate optimism, and businessmen in key industries planning to step up rehiring.

Although employment continues to grow, unemployment trends have remained disturbing. For example, the jobless rate fell in July by 400,000 — yet the number of people unemployed long-term rose.

Yet there's optimism — not fully explained — in employment offices. Business Week explains these hopeful feelings in part by citing the pattern of earlier post-war recoveries, which the present recovery is following. This would mean the big job gains and unemployment drops lie ahead.

Several signs of this include:

Four Signs

Companies normally lengthen the work week of current employees before hiring new ones. During the past six months, the average work week of manufacturing employees has increased by about an hour, and has now reached 40.1 hours.

In the present recovery, under way for about six months, the gain in nonfarm jobs — 2 per cent — has been as good as 1940, better than 1964 or 1958.

The painfully slow fall in unemployment parallels the earlier years. Before improvement showed up then, unemployment held above 7 per cent for seven months in 1958; close to 6 per cent for eight months in 1954; above 6 per cent for nine months in 1949. Against this, the current 6.9 per cent seems routine.

In the earlier upswings, as in this one, long-term unemployment continued to mount and turned its peak long after the return in economic activity and well after total unemployment had leveled off.

Some Light

A check of state employment agencies throws some light on the current job outlook.

Pennsylvania had 4.3 - million unemployed, highest since last October, and the number filing for state unemployment compensation had dropped sharply since last January.

California, disturbed by its rapid population growth and its lagging housing industry, still has a substantial inventory of defense work that should respond rapidly as Washington's spending accelerates. It's counting on a new retraining law to be of immediate help to laid-off aircraft workers.

Massachusetts, where gains and declines are spotty, is seeing a slightly better advance in employment compared to a year ago, and the pickup surprisingly is in soft-goods, strongly in leather.

With a decline in the number on unemployment benefits, officials think they see a spotty trend to return to jobs.

See End to Lag

Optimistic employment officials see the end soon of the traditional six-month lag between the time business begins to recover and employment in manufacturing improves. In July, manufacturing employment was still 450,000 below its pre-recession high, but business began to turn up about last February.
